Civil Service Board Cuts Out Qualification for Ash Collection Job

Mayor Brown Says He Will Try to Have the Qualification Allowed

The board of public service is in receipt of a letter from the civil service commission, substantiating the understanding that the qualification of measurer of wood and weight of coal and other articles has not been allowed as a requirement of an applicant for the position of foreman of ashes and waste collection.

The letter follows:

March 9, 1922.

Board of Public Service:

Gentlemen:
Referring to the examination to be held for the position of superintendent of ashes and waste collection in Lowell, I am directed by the commissioners of civil service to inform you that they cannot allow the qualification that applicants for this position must be weighers of hay, grain and coal, measurers of wood and lumber and surveyors of lumber. They have, however, voted to set an age limit of from 25 to 50 years.

Yours respectfully,
JOHN C. GILBERT,
Secretary.

When advised of the contents of the letter Mayor Brown immediately got in touch with the civil service commission and explained the matter to the secretary.

"That department, under the direction of Mr. Wilson, is giving 100 cents return on the dollar," said the mayor,
"and it is necessary that I have him there to do weighing and measuring when the need arises."

The mayor added that he will attempt to have this qualification allowed, despite the fact that the letter from the commissioners today says that it has been cut out.

SAMUEL GOMPERS

MRS. SARAH A. CONBOY

Samuel Gompers of Washington, president of the American Federation of Labor and Mrs. Sarah A. Conboy of New York, secretary-treasurer of the United Textile Workers of America, were given a tremendous reception in Colonial theatre, Middlesex street, last evening when they addressed a gathering of over 1200 mill operatives. The speakers were brief but to the point and were interrupted quite often by bursts of applause on the part of the large audience.

The visitors arrived in this city at 7:45 o'clock, coming over the road from Manchester, N. H., where they arrived in the day they addressed a large gathering of striking mill operatives. Upon arriving in Lowell they repaired to the New American hotel, where they were received by local labor leaders. Then headed by a brass band composed of members of the Lowell Musicians' association, who gave their services free as a mark of respect to the chief of the labor movement of this country, the party repaired to the theatre. The band was led by John J. Giblin.

Upon arriving at the hall Mr. Gompers, Mrs. Conboy and other speakers were given a very enthusiastic reception. The large hall was crowded to the doors, and one of the officers of the Lowell Textile council stated that had it been a little earlier an overflow meeting would have been held on the steps of the building, for over 500 men and women were unable to gain admittance to the hall.

Accompanying Mr. Gompers and Mrs.
Conboy were Mrs. Mary Sullivan of Scranton, Penn., general organizer for the U. T. W., James Starr, also of Scranton, second vice president of the organization. At the close of the meeting
Mr. Gompers returned to the New American and later boarded the midnight train for New York, whence he will go directly to his home. The other visitors returned to Manchester, N. H., last evening.

The meeting was presided over by John Hanley, a member of the executive board of the U. T. W., and president of the Lowell Textile council and seated on the platform were the above-mentioned visitors, General Organizer and Mrs. Thomas J. Reagan, Mayor Geo.
H. Brown, Rev. A. C. Lyon of the Pawtucket Congregational church, Rev.
Karl P. Meister of the Centralville M.
Church.

At Least Part of Force on Strike Duty in Pawtucket
Valley to Be Recalled

Gov. San Souci of R. I. Soon to Release Guards on Duty Since Feb. 20

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 14.—At least part of the troops on strike duty in the Pawtucket valley will be withdrawn shortly, Governor San Souci announced at noon today. Since February 20, when riots broke out at Natick and Pawtucket, about 250 national guardsmen have been stationed in the valley. Last Saturday, R. D. & T. Knight, Inc., owners of the Natick and Pawtucket mills published notices of an indefinite shutdown at these plants.

There will be no immediate withdrawal of troops from Pawtucket, where four companies of coast artillery are on duty.

Mayor Robert A. Kenyon of Pawtucket conferred with the governor today and informed him that the situation in his city did not warrant removal of the troops.

Judge J. Jerome Hahn, chairman of the state board of mediation and conciliation, also conferred today with John H.
Fowers, executive board member of the United Textile Workers of America.

The property consists of three four-story brick buildings, constituting one solid block, and 6,936 square feet of land in John and Lee streets. The street floor of the building consists of three stores, one of which is occupied by Curley's market, while the three other stories are being occupied as two separate lodging houses. The entire property is assessed for $58,000.

afternoon to give further statements with regard to the bank loan provision of the soldiers' bonus. The motion to call in the three administration officers was adopted after a sharp contest. Seven repub-

PAPERS STOLEN FROM COAKLEY

Exceptions Filed by Attorneys Weston and Holmes
Overruled by Full Bench

Were Found Guilty of Receiving Stolen Papers and Fined $300 Each

BOSTON, March 14.—The full bench of the supreme court today overruled exceptions filed by Robert D. Weston and Hector M. Holmes, attorneys of this city, who were found guilty in superior court, a year ago, of receiving papers stolen from the office of Attorney Daniel H. Coakley. Weston and Holmes, fined $300 each, had appealed.

Two attorneys with Godfrey L.
Cabot, treasurer of the New England Watch and Ward society, were indicted in November, 1920, on charges alleging conspiracy to steal and the receipt of papers stolen from Coakley.
The papers were involved in disbarment proceedings brought against Alvah G. Sleeper, and were sought in an effort to obtain evidence of illegal practice by Coakley.

As a result of the trial the court ordered a verdict of not guilty in the case of Cabot.
The supreme court also overruled exceptions by Cabot to the lower court's direction that the jury return a verdict of not guilty because of a variance in the allegations of the indictment and the proof against Cabot.
Offered by the government, Cabot claimed that he was entitled to a straight verdict of not guilty.

The opinion, written by Judge Jenney, said:
"The jury was justified in finding that the defendants knew the circumstances under which the property had been taken; it is no defense that they thought that their conduct was justifiable."

ARMED WITH RIOT GUNS

Police and Deputy Sheriff's on Duty Near Pawtucket Line This Morning

PAWTUCKET, R. I., March 14.—A detail of East Providence police, reinforced by deputy sheriffs, appeared on duty early today near the Pawtucket line armed with riot guns. There has been considerable stone throwing and other trouble in this vicinity when workers were on their way to the Glenison Dye Works or the Dunell branch of the United States Finishing Co. in this city. Although there were a great many pickets on duty there was no trouble and the officers were not called upon to use their guns which they carried for the first time since the strike began.

On the Pawtucket side of the Dun-nell plant Peter Mann was on his way to work when he was attacked by three men who wielded a club with such effect that Mann was taken to the hospital where two one-inch lacerations were dressed. This attack was made in sight of about a dozen policemen who chased the three assailants who, however, escaped.

RIGHT TO SEIZE FOREIGN SHIPS

Atty. Gen. Daugherty's Order Expected to Establish Power of Government

Demands Proceedings Be Instituted Against British Schooner Grace & Ruby

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Attorney General Daugherty's instructions that proceedings be instituted against the British vessel Grace & Ruby, held at Boston as a liquor smuggler, may establish the right of this government to seize foreign vessels for violation of the prohibition laws, even though they are beyond the three-mile limit.
It was indicated today at the justice department. The text to be applied at Boston, it was explained, was whether the Grace & Ruby, which was operating four miles at sea, could be held to have been constructively within the three-mile limit because liquor was brought ashore in the ship's own small boats.

Authority for such action was said to be found in what is known as the Russian seal case. In this case the British Columbia steamer Araunah was seized by Russians in 1888 for taking seals in the Bering sea when she was off Copper Island about six miles from the nearest land. It appeared that the crew of the schooner were carrying on their operations in canoes about a half-mile from shore.

Lord Salisbury of the British government held that even if the Araunah was herself outside the three-mile territorial limit, the fact that she was, by means of boats, carrying on fishing within Russian waters, without prescribed license, warranted her seizure and confiscation.

BELFAST, March 14. (By the Associated Press).—Belfast's casualty list from the activities of gunmen and bomb throwers in the last 10 weeks totals 83 dead and 157 seriously wounded, according to the Northern Whig which declares this is "relatively more terrible than for the whole year of 1921."

The list would have been greatly swollen, the newspaper adds, if all those who received bullet wounds were included. It points out as the worst feature of the recent outbreaks the number of women and children, some of the latter babies who were struck by chance bullets or bomb splinters.

A still alarm was sent in at 12:12 o'clock this afternoon for a slight blast in a pile of rags in a field off Tannor street.

politicians. Give the property owners, large and small, who make their homes and living here, a chance.

"Boom and bust Lowell, but don't bust it," he said in closing.

The water department estimates were discussed at length and the council heard S. Curtis Garrity, commander of Lowell post, American Legion, make a strong plea for additional funds to properly care for the graves of veterans of all wars. Commander Garrity said that it will cost at least $2000 to place the graves in condition.

Mr. Stevens' statement came at the far end of the meeting, just as the council dissolved as a committee on appropriations. It ran as follows:

"The budget commission has made an honest endeavor to reduce the annual expenses of the city which have increased at an alarming rate in the past few years.

"In order to meet these expenses the assessors have been obliged to raise the valuation in some cases to more than 100 per cent.

"The value of new construction has been small and the greater part of this increase has been borne by the owners of business and manufacturing property.

"This has reached its limit and if we are to continue spending at the present rate the valuation on every house in Lowell, large and small, will be raised and then you will hear a howl that will shake the foundations of this building.

"It has been figured out that if our expenses increase at the present rate the tax rate will be $40 in 1927 and $45 in 1930. Last year the average for the 13 cities of this state was $22.19, and ours was $31.40.

"There are many who will tell you that New England has seen its best days. You have but to look at the increase in population of the cities of the west, south and northwest to see that there is some foundation for this belief.

SUFFERED FROM PAINS IN BACK

Mrs. Kromer Now Feels Like Herself Again and Tells Why

Pain in the back does not mean kidney trouble nor does fluttering of the heart often indicate organic heart disease. Mrs. Fred Kromer had both of these symptoms but found that all her trouble was due to thin blood and disappeared when her blood was built up.

"I had a general breakdown in health," says Mrs. Kromer, who lives at No. 1601 West Monroe street, Sandusky, Ohio, "my appetite was poor and I had but little strength. This condition finally brought on lumbago and nervous dyspepsia. I had quite a lot of nervousness, headache and frequent dizzy spells. The pains in my back gave me a lot of trouble. If I turned or moved quickly it would catch me and cause intense suffering. My stomach was sour and my heart fluttered so much that it alarmed me. I took lots of medicine but when I stopped the pain always came back.

"Through a friend who used them with success I was persuaded to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial and after the second box I began to feel better. I could get around and do my work without being all played out. My appetite improved and as I was able to take more nourishing food, my nerves became stronger. As I continued the treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, my color improved, the pains in my back disappeared entirely and now I feel like myself again. I have recommended the pills to others and am glad to tell what they have done for me."

materials have caused manufacturers to look for locations near the source of these commodities.

"If we are to continue to grow and prosper we must have new industries and hold those that we have now.

"Some will say 'they can't move; they have too much invested,' but the Bigelow Co. did and the Lamson Co. and others are considering it.

"How are we to compete with other cities in securing new industries with a tax rate higher than theirs?

"Our citizens are suffering now from high taxes and what will happen to them when they go still higher?

"The citizens of Lowell are looking to this new government for relief and we believe that this is the line to stop running the city for the benefit of a few hundred employees and a few politicians and give the vast majority of our citizens, the business men, the property owners, large and small, and all those who make their homes and their living here, a chance.

"Recent Lowell and boom Lowell—don't bust Lowell!"

When the council convened at 8:25 o'clock, Councilors Appleton, Chadwick, McMahon and Queenan were absent.

The water department was taken up first. City Engineer Stephen Kearney went over the estimates. He said that the coke in the boulevard filter badly needs changing, at an estimated cost of $10,000. No provision has been made for this change.

Engineer Kearney explained the revenue item of $17,640, secured last year by an ordinance passed in July, 1921, by the old municipal council.

Councilors Queenan and Chadwick came in at 8:30 o'clock.

Tyler A. Stevens, chairman of the budget and audit commission, wanted to know if the $17,640, secured by ordinance, is included in the figures submitted as 1921 expenditures.

Supt. Robert Gardner said that it is included. He added that the city today is using about seven million gallons of water daily and that less has been used this winter than for many years and that decreased receipts are forecasted this year.

The water department estimates were taken under consideration.

S. Curtis Garrity, commander of Lowell post, American Legion, came before the council relative to the amount of money needed for the care of soldiers' graves this year.

He said that it will require at least $2000 to place the graves in proper condition. In Lowell cemeteries at present there are approximately 2650 graves.

Commander Garrity stated that there are veterans of the Civil war buried in pauper sections at both the Edison and St. Patrick's cemeteries.

Councilor Gallagher said that it was the first duty of the city to transfer such bodies from pauper graves.

Commander Garrity's remarks were augmented somewhat by Councilor McFadden, who made a trip through the cemeteries this week.

The police department was called, but acting Supt. W. C. MacBryne could not be located.

Gardner, Co., 01vwmu-a, lu-121422os.

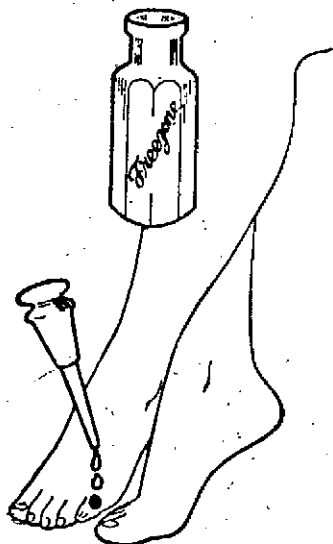

Tyler A. Stevens of the budget commission wished to state the commission's position relative to the recommendations submitted this year, and read the statement printed above.

The council adjourned at 9:30 o'clock, to meet in regular session on Thursday at 7:45 p. m.

The council will accept the budget at a later date, after a conference with the mayor on a number of estimates still under consideration.

A Beauty Specialist Gives Home-Made Recipe to Darken Gray Hair

Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well-known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statement regarding gray hair:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1/2 ounce of glycerine.

NEW PLAN IN WAR ON BOOZE

Dry Commissioner Hayes
Divides Country Into Eighteen Districts

Flying Squadron in Each District to Cope With the Flow of Booze

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Prohibition Commissioner Hayes will try another sort of campaign to break up illicit liquor traffic. He announced yesterday that he has divided the United States into 18 districts and will put a "flying squadron" in each one to cope with the flow of booze. The New England states will comprise the 1st district.

"This force of general prohibition agents" operating in the 18 divisions will be under Commissioner Hayes' direct control, operating through E. C. Yellowley, chief general prohibition agent, said the announcement of the changes, "and will act as his personal representatives in their respective divisions."

"This force of prohibition agents will not in any manner be a part of the forces working under the supervision of the federal prohibition directors, but will be a separate and distinct organization, wholly under the control of the prohibition commissioner. These men shall supplement the work of the field force operating under the state directors and will be a very great aid to the respective directors in their work."

Men already trained by Mr. Yellowley and working for him will be used in the new organization.

Mr. Hayes has been experimenting in his drive against moonshiners and bootleggers in the most recent effort was to secure the drinker away from the poisonous concoctions being sold for whiskey, gin and brandy. His publicity agents have conducted a campaign of "tearfulness." A statement issued today reads:

"Since the raid on a gigantic still near Kalamazoo, when $225,000 in moonshine liquor and property were seized, reports reaching Federal Prohibition Commissioner Hayes from Michigan indicate a drastic drying up of supply sources."

"Smuggled liquor from Canada, reduced to a minimum, has proven to be doctored stuff, concerning which the secretary of the Michigan Board of Pharmacy has issued a warning that the number of cases of nephritis, a type of bright disease, will be alarmingly large by 1923 if drinkers continue to consume liquor produced by rectifying denatured alcohol."

"Eighty-five per cent of the illicit liquor in Michigan should be labeled 'poison.'"

"According to official figures made possible by the Detroit coroner, 18 deaths from poison liquor occurred in that city during February."

"In his report the coroner said: 'We expected just this thing; it is here, and I have only one suggestion for avoiding the catastrophe—don't drink bootleg liquor.'"

"Bootleg liquors are trying to make all kinds of liquor appear as the honest article," said the coroner. "Frequently thousands of counterfeit liquor labels are confiscated by the city and federal authorities."

THE SCHOOL DOCTOR

Before the legislature at the present time is a bill which would make certain changes in the law relative to the examination of school children by physicians. It will be remembered that in some quarters serious opposition was shown to the manner in which certain school physicians conducted the physical examination of girls. It was alleged that in certain cases, the girls were compelled to disrobe and although the facts relative to such cases may be overstated, yet there are few parents who would permit their girls to be subjected to such an ordeal except under strict privacy.

The bill before the legislature relative to this aspect of the school laws would modify the present statute so that no physical records of such examinations be kept by the school authorities, this being alleged to be a violation of the right of privacy. It would also prohibit the addressing of a child either partially or wholly for the purpose of examination, and would forbid any examination of the child by the school physician unless authorized by the parents.

The present law may be defective but it seems that this bill as it stands would nullify all physical examination for health purposes.

Inasmuch as the main objection is against male physicians examining girls and because of the lack of strict privacy, it seems a solution satisfactory to all may be found in having the girls examined by female physicians with due privacy where that is necessary. This is a case in which the woman doctor should be called in to prevent embarrassment and overcome the very natural objections of sensitive parents.

Here in Lowell, we have a woman doctor who has volunteered her services to the school board and whose services along the lines indicated may prove very valuable.

TO PROMOTE BUILDING

The Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange is reported to be planning a systematic campaign to extend and develop the co-operative bank system in Massachusetts to the limit of its possibilities. From the current issue of Industry, published by the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, we learn that a committee has been appointed "to study the situation in Massachusetts as a whole, and to establish, if possible, a co-operative bank in every town not now having such an institution, and which appears to be capable of supporting one; to assist in obtaining charters, providing speakers for preliminary meetings and otherwise to join forces with the Massachusetts Co-operative Bank League, local Chambers of Commerce, Boards of Trade, etc., and similar organizations in increasing the business of existing banks, all without expense to projected or going co-operative banks. President William S. Felton of the Real Estate Exchange, in commenting on the campaign, says that one of the greatest needs of the country, both for social and economic reasons, is work and better housing facilities. When a man becomes the owner of a home, he is a better citizen. Revival of building operations will greatly increase the volume of business and the demand for labor; it will speed up many collateral industries and in every way will have a most beneficial effect. As for the need of money, on mortgages, the savings banks are always willing to advance money on building enterprises where the security is satisfactory. Where there are no savings banks, the co-operative system as proposed will help to encourage proprietors to build. The savings banks of Lowell have announced their readiness to aid building enterprises so that the needs of the towns through the state are not felt hereabouts. There is here no excuse for delay in building operations for lack of the necessary funds.

THE VALUE OF DISCIPLINE

Recruiting news from Washington and various army headquarters scattered throughout the United States, contains valuable suggestions for the summer military camps, including the one at Camp Devens where some of Lowell's young men will be in training this summer for the usual period when intensive military drill will be in order. Col. George Williams, recently named by Gen. Edwards as commander of the Citizens' Military Training camp, where 2,000 boys are to train, has just come out with a strong plea for real discipline in the summer military training schools.

The colonel believes that there has been a letting down of discipline of all kinds since the world war, as indicated by his communication just issued for perusal by camp followers. He says:

"Discipline is the ability of a superior to control his subordinates under any and all conditions."

"It is administered with firmness, justice and kindness, but above all it must be administered to one and all alike and no favoritism shown."

A good many civilians cannot understand the necessity for control of all minor details of a man's life as it is controlled in the service. This is because they do not realize the really fundamental difference between employment in civil life and enlistment in the military service.

All may look back with pride on the record made by our boys in the use of military power given them in the past. This is particularly true, as Col. Williams so well says, when one realizes that except in our two military services and a few schools, discipline of a strong character is unknown in our land. We believe the summer training camps where many of our young men are to report for military training this summer, will do much toward bringing out the very best that is in them and aid them in all their future activities.

SEEN AND HEARD

One fairy tale a boy doesn't believe is a "no swimming" sign.

Women in a Chicago factory are striking for men's pay. We thought they always did get the men's pay.

Dr. Bishop says, "Fast walking helps your circulation." These tips to editors are very nice.

A Dakota farmer who owns a 160-acre farm offers to rent it for a turkey an acre.

Madison M. Miller, aged 35, of West Fairlee, Vt., missed town meeting this year because of a fall on the ice that kept him at home. Death in his family caused him to be absent on another occasion, but with these exceptions he has not missed town meeting since attaining his majority.

An island falls, Me. jeweler kept on exhibiting man's watch chain which sold for $4.50 with a genuine $5 gold piece attached, and offered both for the price of the chain. They remained in the store for continuous days with no takers.

The steamship Nimrod, which sailed from New York last week, had on board a consignment of four crates from Waterville, Me. in each crate were six porcupines and they are destined to John D. Hamlyn of London. Three barrels of Maine apples were shipped with the quill pens for their sustenance during the voyage.

A Word a Day

Today's word is archaic. It's pronounced ar-ky-ick, with accent on the first syllable. It means old-fashioned, antique, out of date, belonging to a past age. It comes from Greek "archaios" old fashioned. It's used like this—"Many people like to fill their homes with archaic furniture."

She Recognized Him

Reggie was undergoing the trying ordeal of being introduced to his fiancée's mother. "Pardon me, madam," he said, "but your face seems so familiar. Have we not met before?" He tried to smile affably while he spoke. "Yes," was the grim reply. "I am the woman who stood up before you four half an hour in a bus the other day while you sat reading a paper."

The Poor Major

Old Major Strappell was walking with a friend when they passed a pretty girl. At once the major turned to his companion with a smile. "There," he said triumphantly, "I told you that charming young lady smiled at me!" "Oh, that's nothing to worry about," replied his friend, coolly. "I've seen you four times in a bus the other day while you sat reading a paper."

Not a Green Fruit Man

A house dealer was trying to sell a horse to a fruit merchant, who was not such a fool as the dealer took him to be. After examining the horse, the fruit merchant shook his head. "No," he said, "I'll not buy him." "Why not?" asked the dealer. "He's just in his prime," the fruit merchant shook his head. "That horse," he said, "reminds me of a rat 20 years old, which my watchman caught last week. 'How's that?' asked the horse dealer. 'Because the rat had a date in its eye,' was the quiet reply."

Overheated Inspector

An impetuous inspector was worried by the noise made by the scholars in the next room. At length, unable to bear the uproar any longer, he opened the door and burst upon the class. "Telling one boy taller than the others talking a great deal, he caught him by the collar, hurried him into the next room and placed him in a chair saying, 'Now sit there and be quiet!' The minutes later a small head appeared round the door and a meek voice said, 'Excuse, sir, you've got one teacher!'

Aunt Selma

When Aunt Selma comes to town she always makes this demand for me, 'And I must be polite and clean. And seldom heard, but always seen. I must sit stiffly in my chair. As long as Aunt Selma's there, but there are certain things I would ask Aunt Selma if I could. I'd ask you, who was small, like me. If she had ever climbed a tree. Or if she'd ever, ever gone. Without her shoes and stockings on. Where lovely puddles lay in rows. To let the mud squeeze through her toes. Or if she'd coasted on a sled. Or learned to stand upon her head. And wave her feet—and after that I'd ask her how she got so. These things I'd like to ask, and then I hope she would not come again. —Carol Hayes, in Harper's Magazine.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

One of the street signs that spring is here may be seen in any town, lot nowadays where groups of youngsters are playing baseball. Last week removed most of the snow from the lot and the wind dried up the ground so that the boys could start their games without splashing through mud. A regular game was staged yesterday on Christian Hill by two scrum teams and there was as much enthusiasm as attends the growing contests. Baseball the first week in March is surely a rare turn of events.

The members of the Knights of Columbus are looking forward with a great deal of pleasure to the "Irish Night" which will be held in the council rooms Thursday evening. The speaker for the affair is the Hon. William H. O'Brien of the public service board of Massachusetts. Mr. O'Brien is a charter member of the Dorchester council and is an eloquent speaker, thoroughly familiar with Irish affairs. His subject will be "America in the Making and the Part Played by the Irish." Besides the speaking there will be music, both instrumental and vocal, Irish airs and Irish songs to predominate. A luncheon will be served.

I understand that H. F. Howe, general secretary of the local Y.M.C.A., was one of the guests at a recent banquet in Boston given to Harry Lauder, the noted Scotch entertainer. From all reports the banquet was a huge success from every standpoint. Sir Harry responded to the entreaties of those assembled and gave several charming addresses. It is the first time the celebrated Scotchman has been in the club for many years and he will long remember the cordial reception tendered him by a few of his many admirers.

Prudent people who like to have the "front lawns" in their front yard flower gardens, can put in sweet years right now and they will give a very good yield providing the ground isn't disturbed too much by continually thawing and freezing, or getting too muddy so as to rot the seed. The early planting of peas both of the white and the green variety, is becoming a custom now, I am told. Some gardeners have excellent luck, but there are others who believe it to be actual folly to plant seeds so early, owing to the general lateness of the spring and the wet condition of the average garden.

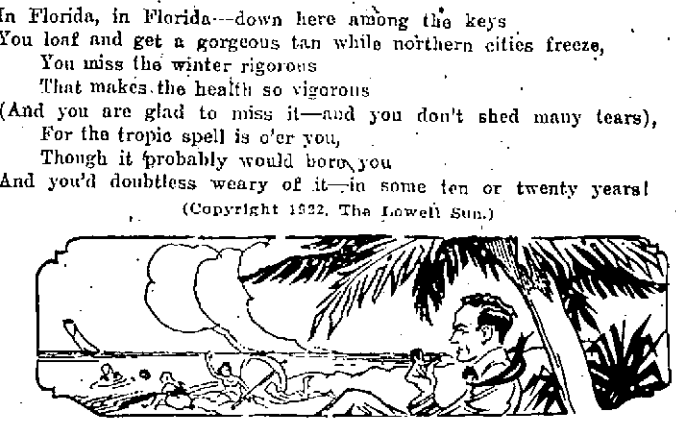

A modest man when it comes to making addresses at public banquets, is the well known horseman, Lester Dore, who attended the banquet of the Lowell Driving Club last Thursday evening. Although called upon for remarks, Mr. Dore, beyond a very few words and a bow of appreciation, de-

LOTUS EATING with Berton Braley RECAPITULATION

In Florida, in Florida we lead a lazy life, Afar from all the northern cold, the tumult and the strife, The royal palms enamor us, The turquoise seas are glamorous And every prospect pleases and man is not so vile; We read of northern weather And we chuckle all together And guess we won't go home again for quite a little while.

In Florida, in Florida you're wrapped about with charm, The breeze is gently balmy and the sun is gently warm, The sandy beaches call for you, The white surf has a thrill for you And there's a scent of flowers and of fruit upon the air; There's a hazy thought a-lurking That you should be home—and working, But—you eat another lotus and you do not seem to care.

In Florida, in Florida—down here among the keys You loaf and get a gorgeous tan while northern cities freeze, You miss the winter rigorous That makes the health so vigorous (And you are glad to miss it—and you don't shed many tears), For the tropic spell is o'er you, Though it probably would bore you And you'd doubtless weary of it—in some ten or twenty years! "PEPPERIZE" FARMING

Radio to Revolutionize Farming, Says U. S. Radio News Service Chief

BY W. A. WHEELER, Chief, Radio News Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

WASHINGTON, March 14—Adaptation of radio communication to the use and service of agriculture will, in my judgment, do more to revolutionize life on America's farms than any other single factor that has ever been known.

Radio can bring to the farmer those things the lack of which has done most to make farm life both difficult and distasteful—news, market information, amusements and instructive entertainment.

To my mind, there is no single use of radio except the protection of life at sea and in the air that should take precedence over its utilization for the benefit of agriculture.

There are more than 32,000,000 people inclined to accede to the horseman's chorus of requests for a rest speech. Mr. Dore is a great favorite among New England horsemen everywhere.

Thirty-eight large textile mill owners in New England are now co-operating with the U. S. Veterans' bureau for the vocational training of disabled veterans. Not long ago four disabled veterans from the Lowell Textile school made up a vocational training exhibit for the Boston Textile exhibition. This exhibition showed the work the government is doing in rehabilitating disabled ex-service men under the U. S. Veterans' bureau. The purpose of the exhibition was to outline to large employers of textile labor the skill of the service men who have been trained by the government. As a result 35 large mill owners in New England offered to take veterans into their employ after they had completed their vocational training. Hundreds of men are completing their training every month and the Veterans' bureau is making every effort to have these men placed in employment as soon as they have mastered their training.

The "B Z" Wayfinder comes to hand once more, the 1922 edition being issued with more than 60 pages, well printed and in compact shape, and two light brown paper covers that make the little pocket directory a very useful as well as interesting volume to have in the home or carry to one's pocket. As usual the familiar name of Conductor John J. Fraser of the local street railway is found on the bottom of the first cover. As a handy reference book, it is useful all the time. A feature of the directory is a list of car lines running from Merrimack square, each line being numbered differently. When a reader is hunting for a certain street, he will find directly opposite the street sought a number referring to the car line that runs to or nearest to the street desired. The complete car line list is given in the back part of the book following the street locations.

financial or sport news as anyone. In many instances, the only entertainment of which the farmer can avail himself is that which comes by radio-phones.

The time element in dispatching weather, crop and market news is a big factor affecting the value of such reports.

In cutting hay or harvesting grain, for example, an hour's delay in the dispatch of weather reports may mean a loss of several thousand dollars. An early morning report on weather conditions and the estimated receipts at the market that day is of great value to the live stock grower about to ship a carload of hogs to market.

Helps in Shipping

Prompt daily reports on the fruit and vegetable markets enables the farmer to determine when and where farm products are most needed and to arrange his shipments accordingly.

A sudden frost may kill an entire fruit crop. By radio, warnings of severe temperature changes or of storms can be flashed instantly to an entire district.

When thousands of tons of food products are threatened with destruction by impending storms or floods, ordinary methods of communicating warnings are too slow. Market news to be of greatest value should be received the same day.

All this is possible by radio. It enables the farmer to keep in instant touch with weather, crop and market news necessary for his business; it gives for his information a summary of important news happenings; it brings to his home, for all his family to hear, lectures, concerts, and other entertainments heretofore only accessible to the city dweller.

Radio puts the farmer in direct touch with the whole world.

CONCERT AND DANCE

Nearly 250 couples attended the dance in Assoluto hall last night with music furnished by the Ferdinando Martine orchestra of Hartford, Conn. A fine concert preceded general dancing.

Any Touch of Indigestion

Gompers Given Big Reception

By church, May. Leslie Bookes of the Central M. E. church, President Chas. E. Anderson of the Trades and Labor council and the presidents of the various local unions affiliated with the U.T.W. of A.

In his opening remarks, Chairman Hanley said the meeting was the second in a series of public gatherings held under the auspices of the Lowell

JOHN HANLEY
President of Lowell

Textile council for the purpose of acquainting the residents of Lowell with the conditions existing in the local textile industry and also to inform them of the reasons why the 20 per cent. reduction in wages in two local mills was rejected. He introduced as the first speaker Mayor Brown, who briefly welcomed the visitors and extended to them the greetings of the city.

Charles E. Anderson of the Trades and Labor council paid his respects to Mr. Gompers and Mrs. Conboy, and in behalf of organized labor of Lowell extended to both a most cordial welcome.

Rev. Leslie Bookes

The next speaker was Rev. Leslie Bookes, who read a paper containing statements from leaders of the Church of England, representatives of the American Catholics and the American Protestants in regard to the labor situation in this country.

The speaker quoted first from the Church of England, then the attitude of American Catholics as pronounced by the national Catholic war council, and then the attitude of American Protestants, as follows:

Church of England

"Large numbers of working people too often have cause to feel that they are directed by an industrial autocracy, repugnant to them precisely because it is an autocracy, and because insofar as it controls their means of livelihood, it controls their lives."

"Christians cannot acquiesce in the undue subordination of human beings to the exigencies of any mechanical or economic system."

"We urge our fellow Christians to ask themselves whether an economic system which produces the striking and excessive inequalities of wealth which characterize our present society is one which is compatible with the spirit of Christianity, or in which a Christian community ought to acquiesce."

"The whole conception of society which tolerates as normal and inevitable the co-existence of riches and widespread poverty, instead of regarding it as the shameful denial of Christian brotherhood which it is, must be renounced by Christians and abandoned by the community."

"The first charge upon every industry should be the payment of a sufficient wage, to enable the worker to maintain himself and his family in health and honor, with such a margin of leisure as will permit reasonable recreation and the development of mind and spirit."

"Steps should be taken to place at the disposal of the public the fullest information which can be obtained with regard to the profits of different industries."

Attitude of American Catholics

"In addition to the right to organize, labor ought gradually to receive greater representation in the industrial part of management."

"The majority must somehow be come owners, or at least in part, of the instruments of production."

"The employer has not a right to interest on his investment until his employees have obtained at least a living wage."

"A living wage is not necessarily the full measure of justice. All the Catholic authorities on the subject explicitly declare that this is only the minimum of justice."

"The present system stands in grievous need of considerable modifications and improvement. Its main defects are three. Enormous inefficiency and waste in the production and distribution of commodities; insufficient incomes for a great majority of wage earners; and unnecessarily large incomes for a small minority of privileged capitalists."

"The laborer must come to realize that he owes his employer and society an honest day's work in return for a fair wage. The capitalist likewise must get a new viewpoint. He needs to learn the long forgotten truth, that wealth is stewardship."

"On grounds both of justice and sound economics we should give our hearty support to all legitimate efforts made by labor to resist general wage reductions."

Attitude of American Protestants

"What is justice in industry can only be determined and maintained as it has been in government, by the common consent of all concerned. The teachings of Jesus give the common man a right to participate in the control of industry, even as they give him a right to participate in the control of the state."

"Out of the very industries that pay inadequate wages great fortunes are being built. Against such inequalities the Christian conscience must protest, for it means poverty, bitter struggle, loss of opportunity and social unrest."

"The supreme social function of the church is to educate the community in the fundamental spiritual principles which underlie these movements of social progress, to uphold the ideals by which they are conceived, to develop the atmosphere in which they are born, the individuals who will carry them to maturity, and the spiritual power which will make them effective."

Rev. Karl P. Molter was next introduced. He said the church has represented stands for the abatement and prevention of poverty and for the right of all men, as well as for the principles of conciliation and arbitration in labor disputes; for a living wage and for the highest wage any industry can afford.

The next speaker was Mrs. Conboy, who spoke in part as follows: "I know there are many here tonight who are not textile workers, but who have come to listen to what Mr. Gompers has to say relative to the fight on against a 20 per cent. reduction. In Pawtucket and Providence, R. I., a similar strike is on, and many say that the fight is going on bravely in Manchester, N. H., where another strike is on, the operatives are waging the prettiest fight I ever saw. The employers have said they cannot run their mills if the 20 per cent. reduction does not stand. All right, show us your books, show us you can't run and we will accept. Are you mill officials ashamed to show what profits you have made?"

"During the war, those of us who did not go to the front, did our bit here by selling Liberty bonds, war savings stamps and by manufacturing clothing for the soldiers and sailors. As soon as the armistice was signed you have rapaid us by giving us a 22 1/2 per cent. reduction, and if we did not put up a fight other reductions would have followed."

"Long before the legislators placed the 48-hour law on the statutes the United Textile Workers of America put it into effect in some mills. We now have the 48-hour law in the state of Massachusetts and other states and we will fight till we do before giving it up. The people in the textile industry are having an awakening and they have stood for the very last kick from the manufacturers. You manufacturers have kicked us around, and you have closed your mills, but now it is our time to close the mills. Instead of announcing a 20 per cent. reduction you should come across with a 60 per cent. increase. Every man working in the mill ought to earn enough to keep his wife home. The working people love their children more than the wealthy class, for that is all they have to cherish. They do not possess wealth, summer homes or automobiles."

Addressing the strikers Mrs. Conboy said: "What is your fight and your stand together you are bound to win. The manufacturers will use the wage question and bring about the world, 'foreigner,' but do not let them intimidate you with such talk, for the foreigners they are now attempting to criticize, were not foreigners when they were imported here. In those days they were not asked about their nationality, but were simply queried as to whether or not they were textile workers. They talk about socialists and radicals, but I may say that the employers of labor have made more of them in America than Lenin and Trotsky in Russia."

"A 20 per cent. reduction on top of a 22 1/2 per cent. reduction is more than human justice can stand, but I again repeat that if the manufacturers can show us in your fight and your mills without that reduction, we will meet them on their own grounds. Keep your fight, for you are being watched from every textile corner in New England and remain united and you are sure to win."

James Starr gave an outline of the enormous profits made by the Ameslows Manufacturing company during the past ten years. His address was followed by brief remarks by General Organizer Thomas J. Reagan in the course of which he stated that the Cotton Mfg. Co. and the Ray State Cotton Corp. were picked out by the manufacturers because they believed they were the weakest as far as organized labor is concerned, but before you get through with them they will change their minds and stand as soon as other notices of a reduction are posted in other mills, the owners will have a fight on their hands."

At the close of Mr. Reagan's address Mr. Hanley announced that a collection would be taken up in the hall for the benefit of the strikers and a score of young women passed the plate around, collecting a very substantial amount.

Big Ovation For Gompers

Mr. Gompers was then introduced

The speaker paid his respects to the mayor, the presiding officer and the clerical present and said: "We are living in a time of tumult of unrest, of an uneasily and nervous state of mind in which there seems to be no fixed principles, but one thing we are assured is that out of the struggle that comes in the life of men, the working class will eventually receive what it is entitled to. Most of the trouble is not of our seeking or making, it is being forced upon us. The men and women who toil have somehow gotten into their minds that in addition to being wealth producers, they are men and women and as such are sovereign beings and they are entitled to the consideration of their fellows. From the beginning of man, from decade to decade, epoch to epoch, all the struggles of the human family have been against tyranny. Our ancestors, fighting for a righteous cause, declared this should be an independent government and a government that recognizes man. The people of the colonies took up arms and were victorious after a wonderful fight and struggle. Then we went on and on and after a while the declaration of independence became threatened, but once in a while on Independence day we hear the declaration read or we read it ourselves with a thrill."

"Then during the great war we learned that the principles of democracy, the hope of our people and our nation were menaced, that the democracies of the world were in danger, and when that danger was discerned by the people of the democratic countries, when the way was laid for the dogs, when the way was laid for the dogs, with the result that the king was driven in defeat. Three weeks before war was declared in this country, labor leaders of this country held a conference and declared that if our country was threatened they would fight against their enemies no matter who they were or from whence they hailed. We have fought and crushed the imperialism of autocracy."

Open Shop Drive

"When the armistice was signed there came a well planned scheme by the employers, who believed that the people of this country had grown to become independent, and they did not like this, so they put on a drive for the so-called open shop. They denied the working people the right to organize, but the working people had tested freedom, they knew what it is and no combination on the face of the earth is going to take it away from them. The manufacturers tell us why don't you act as individuals. What chance do you think one of the operators would have to go to the foreman for the attachment of his rights."

Increases the action of the intestines

Hundreds of men and women have already found freedom from laxatives by eating Fleischmann's fresh yeast.

Doctors are now agreed that proper elimination of waste matter should be brought about by food. One doctor comes right out and states plainly that the indiscriminate use of cathartics is one of the causes of constipation.

Physicians all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's fresh yeast because it is a fresh food, rich in those elements which keep the intestines healthy. In one series of tested cases, normal functions were restored in from 3 days to 5 weeks.

Try it out for yourself. Begin today by adding 3 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your everyday diet. Keep it up and see how normally and regularly your intestines act. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar 4n-fall package with the yellow label. Place a measuring order with your grocer.

Mr. Gompers then made reference to a part of Mrs. Conboy's address when she declared that the manufacturers can show us that they can't run their mills without the 20 per cent. reduction, the operatives were willing to meet them on their own grounds, and he said "It is quite true that some manufacturers really believe they are having losses in their business. They have money invested and after making their own accounts of costs, etc., they come to the conclusion that they ought to make $100,000 in the coming year and if their figures have fallen or if, in other words, their figures show a profit of only $50,000, they feel they have lost $10,000. They want to make it up. The taxes have to be paid, rent and fuel have to be paid for raw material has to be paid for at a given price. We can't cut on them, they say, so we will cut wages. They tell us the only way out of it is to go back to work. We'll go back and I wonder how far back we've got to go to reach normalcy."

"If the textile workers had accepted the 20 per cent. reduction, that would have brought us back to normalcy, so the manufacturers say, but I feel it would have been another inducement for them to push us back and back again, or as they say, nearer to normalcy. There are now 5,000,000 people unemployed in America. The employers and business men say the reason for this unemployment situation is that there is too much goods on the shelves, too much products in the warehouses and the only remedy is to cut wages for they feel that when wages are cut the operatives will be ready to buy more."

In concluding, Mr. Gompers said: "We are not at prayer meeting, for we have our fighting clothes on and we can't help but fight back. What we want is a good home, schools and playgrounds for our children, and I ask you to stand united so that nothing may stand between you and victory."

Her Druggist Recommended It And All the Family Used It

MRS. A. H. SHOYAN is a much respected resident of West Orange, Massachusetts. After taking a number of medicines prescribed by physicians and otherwise learned of, without gaining desired results, she took her druggist's advice. But let her tell her own story.

"I was in a generally run-down condition, weak and always tired. My food did not seem to nourish me and I did not enjoy it. It seemed to me that all the organs were out of sorts. The doctor's medicines and others that I had taken did me no good. I was in Mr. Jackson's drug store and telling him of my troubles. He asked me to try a bottle of Sanalt and he said if it did not help me he would cheerfully refund my money."

"I took the first bottle and it made me feel so much better that I took two more. It made me stronger in every way. I was so pleased that I bought a bottle for my two children, and soon found a great difference in their actions. Now my husband is taking Sanalt and is already being benefited as it has had a wonderful helpful effect upon his stomach. So you see Sanalt has done good for the whole family. We were generally out of sorts, as entire families often get, feverish, somewhat constipated and restless, and it seems as if Sanalt just started us going in the right way."

PROVIDES FOR ARMY OF 126,000

Appropriation Bill Carrying $270,353,030.67 Reported by House Committee

Bill Also Provides for Return of All U. S. Troops to This Country by July 1

WASHINGTON, March 13.—With provisions which would necessitate reduction of the regular army to 115,000 enlisted men and 11,000 officers, the army appropriation bill, carrying $270,353,030.67, was reported today by the house appropriations committee.

The amount recommended for the military and non-military activities of the war department during the coming fiscal year is a reduction of $11,000,000 from the total appropriation for the current year and $17,995,686.80 less than budget estimates.

As drafted by a sub-committee headed by Representative Anthony, republican, Kansas, the bill would require the return to the United States by next July 1 of all troops stationed in China, 540 men from Hawaii; about 2000 men from the Panama Canal Zone and all but 600 officers and men in the army of occupation on the Rhine.

No limitation is proposed on the number of men to be maintained in the Philippines, the committee's report stating, however, that Secretary Weeks believes that under present conditions "some reduction" can be made in the force there.

The contemplated withdrawals, it was said, would leave 5000 men in the Hawaiian Islands and a like number in the Canal Zone. The present actual strength of the army was given by the committee as about 115,000 officers and 12,000 men, exclusive of 7000 Philippine scouts. An appropriation of $27,260,360 is recommended for continuance of work on various river and harbor improvements for which the chief of engineers requested $43,000,000; $13,000,000 for the air service against $15,000,000 requested; and $2,130,200 for the national guard, about $9,000,000 less than budget estimates.

The committee recommended $500,000 for the chemical warfare service, declaring that sum sufficient to provide for a "minimum amount of development work and training along lines compatible with present conditions" and for maintaining Edgewood arsenal in standby condition. An appropriation of $2,750,000 is recommended for supplies and equipment of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, and $1,800,000 for civilian military training camps.

The bill carries $7,740,000 for the ordnance department to meet, in addition to other expenses, the cost of maintaining a skeleton force at arsenals "to keep alive the knowledge of the method of manufacture."

The amount carried in the bill for sea coast fortifications, the committee reported, would not provide for any new projects, but would go entirely for maintenance of existing fortifications and for continuing the construction of a limited number of sea coast guns.

The total recommended for river and harbor improvements about $15,000,000 less than the amount sought by the chief of engineers, is carried as a lump sum and projects on which work would be continued are not specified. None of the appropriation will go for new projects, however.

For the subsistence of the army the committee recommended $16,550,000, approximately $13,000,000 less than last year's appropriation.

The sub-committee which spent three months in holding hearings and framing the bill reported that "the excessive cost of maintaining the regular army over pre-war expenditures"

Bank Runner Robbed of $13,500

PHILADELPHIA, March 13.—Robert McGirr, a bank runner, was held up and robbed of $13,500 as he left the Southwestern National bank at Broad and South streets this afternoon. Two men waylaid and black-jacked McGirr. In the chase which followed two policemen and one bandit were shot. One of the policemen is said to be in a serious condition. The robbers' automobile was pursued more than a mile before they were caught and the money recovered.

was found to be largely due to the "expensive methods of its administration."

It seems to be the fixed policy of the general staff to station full divisions in Hawaii and Panama," the report said. "Except in times of emergency, it is not believed such a policy is justified, as it will cost as much to maintain these two divisions in Panama and Hawaii as our entire regular army cost us in the years following the Spanish war."

Commenting on the cost of maintaining troops on the Rhine, the committee calls attention to Germany's failure to pay the cost. The committee also declared that "no adequate reason has been shown for the maintenance of any troops in China."

TO OPPOSE SEN.

FRELINGHUYSEN

TRENTON, N. J., March 13.—George L. Record, Jersey City attorney, announced today he would be a candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator in opposition to Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen. He said he would make Senator Frelinghuysen's vote to seat Senator Newberry his leading issue.

For many years he was employed at the Granite mills.

During his period of greatest activity, Mr. Kershaw never allowed an important labor measure at the state house to escape his attention and because of his activity in 1897 the name of "Citizen" Kershaw came into existence. Its creator was Representative Sargent of Springfield, according to a statement made by Kershaw himself some years ago.

"Citizen" Kershaw, Unique Figure, Who Worked in Lowell Years Ago, Dead

FALL RIVER, March 13.—Death removed a unique figure in the history of Fall River today, when William Kershaw, better known by the name of "Citizen" Kershaw, for more than 30 years a resident here and active in labor matters, passed away at the City Home in the 74th year of his life.

William Kershaw was born in Rochdale, England, Nov. 19, 1848, the youngest of his father's family.

He worked for a time in the Lowell carpet mills but learned loom fixing and worked at it intermittently in Lowell, Hartford, Thompsonville, Conn., and New York. About 1890 he came to Fall River and had since lived here, following his vocation as a weaver, and taking an active part in the discussion of all labor matters.

The boys had been playing on the ice along the American shore of the river, at La Salle, when the ice broke away and floated out into the river. In a minute or two after the boys were taken off in a boat, the ice cake broke into many pieces which were swept down the current over the falls.

NEW YORK, March 13.—Foreign exchanges were extremely nervous and unsettled here today. The reaction was primarily due to British political conditions at home and in India and South Africa.

THE GREEK COMMUNITY

Community. Members in Controversy Over Result of Sunday's Meeting

Members of the local Greek community held their semi-annual meeting in the basement of the Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox church in Jefferson street yesterday afternoon and before street Sunday afternoon and before officers were called to maintain order.

The trouble, it is said, started when the secretary of the community, Demetrios Kiriakis, was discharged from his duties by President Danas, following his failure to comply with alleged parliamentary procedure, and Theodoros Kiriakis was appointed to fill his place. Mr. Kiriakis was the second highest man in the position at the last annual election.

It seems that President Danas criticized the action of the secretary in ordering registration of voters closed a few days ago, despite the fact that there was an agreement that registration should remain open until the committee recently appointed to draw up new by-laws and amendments made its report. At this point the secretary left the hall with the books of the community, so it is claimed, and then there was something done. Later in the day President Danas and Sergi Fraxley went to the home of the secretary to get the books of the community. "The secretary was not at home and a note was left for him to return the books within 24 hours. President Danas stated this afternoon that as far as he knew the books had not yet been returned. If the secretary does not comply with the order, it is said that legal proceedings will be started.

Secretary Kiriakis Sec. Demetrios Kiriakis called at The Sun office yesterday to state his side of the question and incidentally to query Mr. Danas. He asked Mr. Danas if he knows that from the beginning of the meeting until the time the secretary went out that the majority of the members were against him, (Danas).

He also wants to know from Mr. Danas how the secretary can be discharged without the question being put to a vote and he also wants to know if Mr. Danas is sure that all who remained after the secretary went out were members in good standing.

The secretary said he had according to the constitution, notified all members that February 25 was the last day for registration. He said that President Danas wanted the registration period extended for one month and in wonder why Mr. Danas did not put his request in the form of a motion so that it might be voted upon.

"President Danas," said the secretary, "attempted to take the books away from me by force and raising such a commotion that it was necessary to send for the police. The books are at all times in the custody of the secretary and he is responsible for them under bonds amounting to $1000. The secretary will not bring back the books, neither will he deliver them to Danas if called for."

MEMORIES OF LONDON

Rev. Dr. Newton of New York City Addresses Mid-dlessex Women's Club

Dr. Newton Tells of Lloyd George's Personal Magnitude—English Courteous

"Some London Memories" was the topic assigned to Dr. Joseph Ford Newton of the Church of the Fatherly, New York city, before the Middlessex Women's club yesterday afternoon, and the speaker related many of them in dramatic and impressive fashion. Much of his time, however, was given to the vision of an Anglo-American alliance, which, he claimed, has been his supreme ideal since boyhood and which has not lost its glamour. During the war Dr. Newton was called to preach at the City Temple in London, and was given his first opportunity to see England, of which to apparently made the most.

Relating his early interest in Anglo-American affairs, he told of talking over his attitude with the late John Fiske and with Gustav Smith. Naturally he gladly accepted the call to London with the idea in mind of seeing England, having formed the opinion that his ideal might come to pass, and that the English speaking people of the world might some day join hands in care for the peace and stability of the world.

Dr. Newton said that in 1916, when he went to England, there were no two environments so unlike as the quiet midwest city from which he came and the great, gray London. He found the great reason for the shock of the great transplantation which occurred in his own case. He arrived in England without any idea whatever, not even a Cook's tourist idea, of what the country was like.

The speaker remarked on the fact that it takes some little time to understand the English point of view and to make them understand an American's. When he first landed in England in 1916 the first impression that he received was that it resembled the great park, well kept, with the green of the greenest green. Arriving in Liverpool, he found the reason for the greenness of the grass. He discovered that rain is not a custom, but a habit in England. It is ready to rain at all times.

From Liverpool he proceeded to London, a disappointment occupied by several other persons. The unaccustomed and unendurable silence finally got on his American nerves, and he decided to break it. Speaking to his neighbor in a companionable manner, he was rewarded by the neighbor's smile. He finally concluded that the more deeply he got into the English way of life, the more he would like it.

He found the English courteous in all three classes of society. In this respect, said Dr. Newton, we have much to learn from them. In other ways they have much to learn from us. London, though a strange place, was familiar to him, somehow; perhaps through reading and family legend. His encounter with the city was like meeting a cousin not seen in twenty years. At the time he arrived in London, according to Dr. Newton, there was a subtle undercurrent of impatience because of the delay of America in entering the war. They felt that it was a mutual proposition, and that it should be in it as well as they. The English people are inclined to regard America as a new England, and cannot realize that rather than a new England it is a new world.

He commented on the fact that American history is not taught in the British schools. In English history, our country is mentioned in a very few places. Dr. Newton said that we, on the other hand, are obliged to read English history to properly know our own.

When he found there, said Dr. Newton, he found the people in a certain way, a pleasant frame of mind. Their attitude toward America was that it was a land of dollars.

London, according to the speaker, is the center of British life. Everything said there at night is known throughout the country next morning. In speaking of Mrs. Asquith as a piquant, dashing woman, lightning and sweetness all mixed up in a smile, and a terrifying gift of speech, he began his talk on British politics. He first spoke of questions that in the hour of common sense, which he felt, rather than information is the purpose of most questions. One question, for instance, was "Is the honorable gentleman aware that the house of lords is a cross be-

SHOWS OPERATING LOSS

Merrimack Mfg. Company
President Presents Annual Report to Stockholders

The annual report of the Merrimack Mfg. Co., with mills in this city and Haverhill, presented yesterday to the stockholders by Ward Thorton, treasurer, shows an operating loss for the year and a reduction in output from $15,000,000 to $10,000,000.

The report is of unusual interest at this time, inasmuch as it deals at some length with the uncertain industrial conditions, in textiles. Southern competition is being felt, the report declares, and there also is a serious competition from northern mills located in states where the lower cost of manufacturing are not so severe as in Massachusetts.

"No satisfactory remedy can be found until the public regains confidence in values and can afford to buy again in sufficient volume to justify running the mill at capacity," the report states.

In touching the wage situation, the report is carefully worded. "This (the wage) situation must be met in the near future. We have hesitated to ask our employees to contribute their share, so long as we did not feel justified in asking greater accumulation of cloth by running full time," the paragraph says in brief.

The report goes on to say that in abnormal times like the present, there is another form of competition still more serious, that of the converters, who trade on the necessities of the weaker manufacturers and of finishers, who will take work at a loss, to save a greater loss.

If the state, with the best of intentions, through taxation and restrictions, makes manufacturing more expensive and difficult than elsewhere, it is only a question of time when it will succeed in ruining once prosperous industries and in the process the effort to survive must bear heavily on the labor it is anxious to protect.

GRADUATING CLASS ELECTS OFFICERS

The members of the graduating class of the evening high school met last evening and elected the following officers: President, Charles B. Lawrence; Vice-president, Mary C. McDonald; Secretary, Mabel L. Sullivan and treasurer, John E. Harrington.

It was announced today that the principal speaker at the graduating exercises will be Professor Dallas Lora of the University of Chicago.

When questioned today regarding a rumor that his name will be placed in nomination by Mayor George H. Brown for the position of superintendent of police, Mr. George H. Brown said that he has no intention of accepting the position.

When the mayor was asked concerning the rumor, he said that he has never indicated any such action and added that the rumor had no foundation. He said further that such a story did not seem quite fair to Mr. Macgrath, the present temporary incumbent.

Belfast's Casualty List in Last Ten Weeks Totals 83 Dead, 157 Wounded

BELFAST, March 14. (By the Associated Press.) Belfast's casualty list from the activities of gunmen and bomb throwers in the last 10 weeks totals 83 dead and 157 seriously wounded, according to the Northern Whig which declares this is "relatively more terrible than for the whole year of 1921."

The list would have been greatly swollen, the newspaper adds, if all those who received bullet wounds were included. It points out as the worst feature of the recent outbreaks the number of women and children, some of the latter babies who were struck by chance bullets or bomb splinters.

WORD RECEIVED FROM MISSING WOMAN

SALEM, March 14.—Word was received this noon from Mrs. Bessie W. Buxton, missing Peabody woman and president of the Peabody Woman's club, that she was at the American Woman's association in New York. The news came in a letter to her sister, Mrs. Lena Wiggin of Boston, who is visiting Mrs. Thomas E. Wilson of Danvers. Mrs. Buxton gave no reason for her sudden disappearance from her home early Saturday morning, but asked that money be sent her under the name of "Raymond" at the above address. Somebody will leave at once for New York. Mr. Buxton, her husband, is in Essex heading a searching party for his wife, and does not know of the arrival of the letter.

BIG RECEPTION TO SAMUEL GOMPERS AND MRS. SARAH A. CONBOY

President of American Federation of Labor and Secretary-Treasurer of United Textile Workers of America Speak in Colonial Theatre—Gompers Urges Strikers to Fight to Last Ditch—Mrs. Conboy Calls on Employers to Show Their Books

SAMUEL GOMPERS

MRS. SARAH A. CONBOY

Samuel Gompers of Washington, president of the American Federation of Labor and Mrs. Sarah A. Conboy of New York, secretary-treasurer of the United Textile Workers of America, were given a tremendous reception in Colonial theatre, Middlesex street, last evening when they addressed a gathering of over 1200 mill operatives. The speakers were brief but to the point and were interrupted quite often by bursts of applause on the part of the large audience.

The visitors arrived in this city at 7:45 o'clock, coming over the road from Manchester, N. H., where earlier in the day they addressed a large gathering of striking mill operatives. Upon arriving in Lowell they repaired to the New American hotel, where they were received by local labor leaders. Then headed by a brass band composed of members of the Lowell Musicians' association, who gave their services free as a mark of respect to the chief of the labor movement of this country, the party repaired to the theatre. The band was led by John V. Giblin.

Upon arriving at the hall Mr. Gompers, Mrs. Conboy and other speakers were given a very enthusiastic reception. The large hall was crowded to the doors, and one of the officers of the Lowell Textile council stated that had it been a little earlier the overflow meetings would have been held on the steps of the building; for over 500 men and women were unable to gain admittance to the hall.

Accompanying Mr. Gompers and Mrs. Conboy were Mrs. Mary Sullivan of Scranton, Penn., general organizer for the U. T. W., James Starr, also of Scranton, second vice president of the organization. At the close of the meeting Mr. Gompers returned to the New American and later boarded the midnight train for New York, whence he will go directly to his home. The other visitors returned to Manchester, N. H., last evening.

The meeting was presided over by John Hanley, a member of the executive board of the U. T. W., and president of the Lowell Textile council and seated on the platform were the above-mentioned visitors, General Organizer H. Brown, Rev. A. G. Lyon of the Pawtucket Congregational church, Rev. Karl W. Melster of the Centralville M.

Administration Officers Called on Bonus

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Secretary Mellon, Comptroller of the Currency Crissinger, and Governor Harding of the Federal Reserve board, will be asked to appear before the house ways and means committee this afternoon to give further statements with regard to the bank loan provision of the soldiers' bonus. The motion to call in the three administration officers was adopted after a sharp contest. Seven republicans joined with six democrats in voting in the affirmative. The republicans were Longworth, Tilson, Baeharachi, Treadway, Watson, Young and Mott. Two democrats, Tague and Carey, voted against the motion.

In announcing that Secretary Mellon, Gov. Harding and Comptroller Crissinger would appear before the committee at 2 p. m. today in open session, Chairman Fordney said it had been decided to call them because they had "made statements conflicting with one another."

"The ways and means committee voted down a motion to re-insert the cash feature of the bonus and to re-impose the excess profits tax and another motion to restore the war-time income surtax rate of 65 per cent."

Immediately after the house convened, discussion on the bonus measure was precipitated when Representative Andrew, republican, Massachusetts, obtained unanimous consent to insert

In the record a copy of a letter he has written to members of the ways and means committee and also the house, urging that there be included in the bonus bill provision for adjusted compensation for the immediate relatives of service men who died during the war or have died since that time.

Mellon's Views

Secretary Mellon told the house ways and means committee today that he would not feel it incumbent on the treasury department to advise banks not to loan money on adjusted service certificates as they would be authorized to do so under a provision of the compromise soldiers' bonus bill.

BOOM AND BOOST BUT DON'T BUST

Budget Commission Chairman Tells Councilors to Go Easy on Increases

"Boom and Boost Lowell, But Don't Bust It," Says Mr. Stevens

City Council Meets as Committee of the Whole on Appropriations

The city council dissolved last night as a committee of the whole on appropriations, but not before Tyler A. Stevens, chairman of the budget and audit commission, warned the councilors to proceed cautiously in the matter of voting any increases over recommendations presented to them. "Lowell citizens are looking to this new government for relief from the burden of taxation," said Mr. Stevens, "and our budget commission believes it is high time to stop running the city for the benefit of a few hundred employees and a handful of PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 14.—At least part of the troops on strike duty in the Pawtuxet valley will be withdrawn shortly, Governor San Souci announced at noon today. Since February 20, when riots broke out at Natick and Pawtucket, about 250 national guardsmen have been stationed in the valley. Last Saturday, H. B. & R. Knight, Inc., owners of the Natick and Pawtucket mills published notices of an indefinite shutdown at these plants.

There will be no immediate withdrawal of troops from Pawtuxet, where four companies of coast artillery are on duty.

Mayor Robert A. Kenyon of Pawtucket conferred with the governor today and informed him that the situation in his city did not warrant removal of the troops.

General Strike in Soft Coal Industry On Or About April 1, Inevitable

WASHINGTON, March 14.—A general strike in the bituminous coal industry on or about April 1 is inevitable, Secretary of Labor Davis and John L. Lewis, president of United Mine Workers of America agreed today following a prolonged conference at which they discussed the situation growing out of the controversy between the miners and mine operators. Mr. Lewis declared later that the operators were forcing the strike "as a bold commercial policy for which the public will pay." The miners' president reiterated today his statement that the unions were prepared to open negotiations looking to the formulation of an agreement to take the place of that which expires next month.

PAPERS STOLEN FROM COAKLEY

Exceptions Filed by Attorneys Weston and Holmes Overruled by Full Bench

Were Found Guilty of Receiving Stolen Papers and Fined $300 Each

BOSTON, March 14.—The full bench of the supreme court today overruled exceptions filed by Robert D. Weston and Hector M. Holmes, attorneys of this city, who were found guilty in superior court, a year ago, of receiving papers stolen from the office of Attorney Daniel H. Coakley. Weston and Holmes, fined $300 each, had appealed.

The two attorneys, with Godfrey L. Cabot, treasurer of the New England Watch and Wind society, were indicted in November, 1920, on charges of receiving stolen papers and the receipt of papers stolen from Coakley. The papers were involved in disbursement proceedings brought against Alvah G. Sleeper, and were sought in an effort to obtain evidence of illegal practice by Coakley.

As a result of the trial the court ordered a verdict of not guilty in the case of Cabot.

The supreme court also overruled exceptions by Cabot to the lower court's direction that the jury return a verdict of not guilty because of a variance in the allegations of the indictment and the proof against Cabot offered by the government. Cabot claimed that he was entitled to a straight verdict of not guilty.

The opinion, written by Judge Jenney, said:

"The jury was justified in finding that the defendants knew the circumstances under which the property had been taken; it is no defense that they thought that their conduct was justifiable."

RIGHT TO SEIZE FOREIGN SHIPS

Atty. Gen. Daugherty's Order Expended to Establish Power of Government

Demands Proceedings Be Instituted Against British Schooner Grace & Ruby

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Attorney General Daugherty's instructions that proceedings be instituted against the British vessel Grace & Ruby, held at Boston as a liquor smuggler, may establish the right of this government to seize foreign vessels for violation of the prohibition laws, even though they are beyond the three-mile limit, it was indicated today at the justice department. The test to be applied at Boston, it was explained, was whether the Grace & Ruby, which was operating four miles at sea, could be held to have been constructively within the three-mile limit because liquor was brought ashore in the ship's own small boats.

Authority for such action was said to be found in what is known as the Russian seal case. In this case the British Columbian steamer Arcturion was seized by Russians in 1885 for taking seals in the Bering sea when she was off Copper Island about six miles from the nearest land. It appeared that the crew of the schooner were carrying on their operations in canoes about a half-mile from shore.

Lord Salisbury of the British government held that even if the Arcturion was herself outside the three-mile territorial limit, the fact that she was by means of boats, carrying on fishing within Russian waters, without prescribed license, warranted her seizure and confiscation.

To File Civil Bill BOSTON, March 14.—The federal district attorney's office in this city will file a civil bill against the British schooner Grace & Ruby and the half million dollar cargo of liquor she carried when captured off this port as a rum-runner.

Assistant United States District Attorney Charles P. Curtis, Jr., in making this announcement today, acting on instructions from Attorney General Daugherty, said that the schooner would be proceeded against on the ground that she had violated the customs laws in landing merchandise illegally.

Two questions were to be determined by the case, which the government regards as a test. Mr. Curtis said. The first is whether a vessel of foreign registry outside the three-mile limit, assuming that she violated the United States laws, could be seized and put under the jurisdiction of the federal court. The second question is whether liquor is merchandise. If it is not, Mr. Curtis said, the government has no case.

Why You Need Iron—

The food you eat contains carbon. When your food is digested it is absorbed from the intestines into the blood. The carbon in your food comes in contact with the oxygen carried by the iron in your blood, the carbon and oxygen combine, yielding something they give off tremendous energy, thereby giving you great force, strength and endurance. With great force blood carries no oxygen and without oxygen there is nothing to unite with the carbon in your food, so that what you consume you cannot use, you do not get any strength from it—it is like putting coal into a stove without a fire. You cannot get any heat or light from it unless you light it with the fire.

Boom and Bust, Don't Bust

politicians. Give the property owners, large and small, who make their homes and living here, a chance. "Boom and bust, Lowell, but don't bust it," he said in closing.

The water department estimates were discussed at length and the council heard S. Curtis Garrity, commander of Lowell post, American Legion, make a strong plea for additional funds to properly care for the graves of veterans of all wars. Commander Garrity said that it will cost at least $2000 to place the graves in condition.

Mr. Stevens' statement came at the far end of the meeting, just as the council dissolved as a committee on appropriations. It ran as follows:

The budget commission has made an honest endeavor to reduce the annual expenses of the city which have increased at an alarming rate in the past few years.

In order to meet these expenses the assessors have been obliged to raise the valuation in some cases to more than 100 per cent.

"The value of new construction has been small and the greater part of this increase has been borne by the owners of business and manufacturing property.

"This has reached its limit and if we are to continue spending at the present rate the valuation on every house in Lowell, large and small, will be raised and then you will hear a howl that will shake the foundations of this building.

"It has been figured out that if our expenses increase at the present rate the tax rate will be $40 in 1927 and $43 in 1930. Last year the average for the 35 cities of this state was $29.19, and ours was $31.40.

"There are many who will tell you that New England has seen its best days. You have but to look at the increase in population of the cities of the west, south and northwest to see that there is some foundation for this belief.

"High freight rates on coal and raw

materials have caused manufacturers to look for locations near the source of these commodities.

"If we are to continue to grow and prosper we must have new industries and hold those that we have now.

"Some will say 'they can't move; they have too much invested,' but the Digelow Co. did and the Lamson Co. and others are considering it.

"How are we to compete with other cities in securing new industries with a tax rate higher than theirs?

"Our citizens are suffering now from high taxes and what will happen to them when they go still higher?

"The citizens of Lowell are looking to this new government for relief and we believe that this is the time to stop running the city for the benefit of a few hundred employees and a few politicians and give the vast majority of our citizens, the business men, the property owners, large and small, and all those who make their homes and their living here, a chance.

"Don't Lowell and boom Lowell—but don't bust Lowell."

When the council convened at 8.25 o'clock, Councilors Appleton, Chadwick, McMahon and Queenan were absent.

The water department was taken up first. City Engineer Stephen Kearney went over the estimates. He said that the coke in the boulevard filter badly needs changing, at an estimated cost of $10,000. No provision has been made for this change.

Engineer Kearney explained the revenue item of $17,540, secured last year by an ordinance passed in July, 1921, by the old municipal council.

Councilors Queenan and Chadwick came in at 8.30 o'clock.

Tyler A. Stevens, chairman of the budget and audit commission, wanted to know if the $17,540, secured by ordinance, is included in the figures submitted as 1921 expenditures.

Supt. Robert Gardner said that it is included. He added that the city today is using about seven million gallons of water daily and that less has been used this winter than for many years and that decreased receipts are forecasted this year.

The water department estimates were taken under consideration.

E. Curtis Garrity, commander of Lowell post, American Legion, came before the council relative to the amount of money needed for the care of soldiers' graves this year.

He said that it will require at least $2000 to place the graves in proper condition. In Lowell cemeteries at present there are approximately 2550 graves.

Commander Garrity stated that there are veterans of the Civil war buried in pauper sections at both the Edson and St. Patrick's cemeteries.

Councilor Gallagher said that it was the first duty of the city to transfer such bodies from pauper graves.

Commander Garrity's remarks were augmented somewhat by Councilor McPadden, who made a trip through the cemeteries this week.

The police department was called, but acting Supt. W. C. MacBrayne could not be located.

Giffard Hoag, telephone 12142203, Tyler A. Stevens of the budget commission wished to state the commission's position relative to the recommendations submitted this year, and read the statement printed above.

The council adjourned at 9.30 o'clock, to meet in regular session on Thursday at 7.45 p. m.

The council will accept the budget at a later date, after a conference with the mayor on a number of estimates still under consideration.

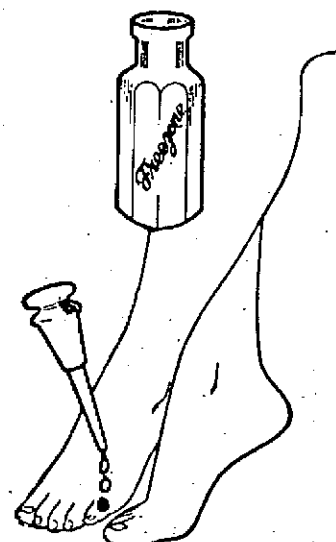

"I had a general breakdown in health," says Mrs. Kromer, who lives at No. 1501 West Monroe street, Sandusky, Ohio. "My appetite was poor and I had but little strength. This condition finally brought on lumbago and nervous dyspepsia. I had quite a lot of nervousness, headache and frequent dizzy spells. The pains in my back gave me a lot of trouble. If I turned or moved quickly it would catch me and cause intense suffering. My stomach was sour and my heart fluttered so much that it alarmed me. I took lots of medicine but when I stopped the pain always came back.

"Through a friend who used them with success I was persuaded to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial and after the second box I began to feel better. I could get around and do my work without being all played out. My appetite improved and as I was able to take more nourishing food, my nerves became stronger. As I continued the treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, my color improved, the pains in my back disappeared entirely and now I feel like myself again. I have recommended the pills to others and am glad to tell what they have done for me."

A Beauty Specialist Gives Home-Made Recipe to Darken Gray Hair

Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well-known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statement regarding gray hair:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1/4 ounce of glycerine.

"These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."—Adv.

Apocalypse" comes to the front again with another sterling story, "Turn to the Right," which opened a three-day engagement at the Rialto theatre yesterday afternoon. The same masterly work which brought him distinction is again present and he has rounded out a delightful story into a wonderful screen production.

"Turn to the Right" is the story of a New England town in which an impoverished family, by firmly believing in the "land of Providence" and with the aid of a noble of recognized criminal, finally wins its way into society and distinction. Its good moral is capably told in a company form, with laughs and tears, run alternately through its New England scenes.

"Joe Bassoon," depicted by Jack Mullhall, is the son of a poor widow who is struggling along, trying to make both ends meet from the sale of her peach orchard. The boy is faithful to her orders and aids his mother and sister in every possible way. As he reaches the age of manhood Joe is attracted by the loveliness of his neighbor, Jacobine Tillinger's daughter, who is depicted by Alice Perry, and together they pledge their love. The deacon is a miserly fellow and, because Joe is not equal financially for his hand, he is driven to warn the young fellow to remain away from the girl.

Joe decides to leave home at this rebuke and travels through the mists of the city with only a five-spot between him and starvation. He enters one of the hovels of the underworld, where he meets a woman, who is the daughter of a horse racer. Fortune smiles on his bet and he rises in the race circles until he has placed $2000 in the bank. He still claims to be a poor boy, but the horse racer, who is a cunning and narrow path.

Joe's love for horses gives him an intimate knowledge of the racing game and he finally places his savings in one race, on 10 to 1 odds. He wins and as he is going to the bookmaker to collect the big money, he is stopped by the law, falls upon his shoulder and he is given a year in jail on a charge of larceny from his master. Of course the boy is innocent and he leaves up to the mother's pleading and so turns his step home.

Meanwhile the old deacon is encroaching upon the rights of Joe's mother and is about to take over her farm in payment of a debt when the boy walks in. He is only home a few weeks when the two fall birds, who have come by freight, step up to the door for a bite to eat. They are surprised when they see Joe out of his attic. The mother is still under the impression that Joe has enough money to clear the farm, and that his "friends" are business men, and she tells the old deacon that her boy will settle up everything. Then ensue a series of complications, in which the two crooks steal from the deacon so that Joe can pay his debt. The latter finally works his way on his feet and is able to add the mother out of her difficulties. The man who sent him up to jail is also exposed and Joe receives his old savings, together with the money and interest accrued from the winnings, and the family homestead is placed on solid foundation. Startled by the sudden wealth, the old deacon consents to the marriage of his beautiful daughter and there is a happy ending for all. Joe's criminal friends continue to keep straight and work into the community as old-time residents.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE
The Marguerite Fields company scored a tremendous hit with this week's offering at the Opera House, "The Orphan's Story." It ever, has this company as a whole accomplished such a fine bit of work. The play is of the old-fashioned melodrama type, with its usual laughs and sob. The title may be a bit misleading as the theme of the play does not call for continuous use of the handkerchief. However, there are times when mist is bound to collect before the eyes as the audience is swayed by superb bits of emotional acting.

The story itself needs little detailed rehearsal because the show is much older than the theatre itself. The scene is laid in Paris during those stirring times which preceded the French Revolution and the overthrow of the Bastille. It deals with the difficulties of two orphan sisters, one of whom is blind. One of the sisters is abducted and the other, the blind one, is captured by an old hag and forced to beg on the streets.

The nobility of France is drawn into the plot, the prefect of police is involved and in fact many of the celebrated characters of history mixed into the affair before the sisters are reunited.

The female rolls prove to be the heavy ones and are all well played. Miss Florence Hill, as Louise, the blind sister, Anna Layton, the Countess de Linieres and Flora Frost, as La Frochard, deserve special mention for their excellent work. Miss Hill, for the part of the blind girl in her part, perhaps the most difficult one of the entire cast, has proved to be possessed of a charming voice, her singing being sad but sweetly sung.

Miss Layton, as one of the blind sisters, seemed built for the part. She was frequently, yet sympathetically at all times. She exhibited a great bit of acting in the third act when she discovered her long lost child.

Miss Frost carried off the part of the haggling hag with a great deal of power. Her part, which is very hard to portray and calls for hours of study and patience, her work was well received by the audience.

Miss Layton, as Henriette, the other sister, made her usual hit, her acting, as usual, being faultless.

The heavy male parts were well carried by Louis Allen, as Pierre, Seth Arnold, as Count de Linieres, Vincent Dennis, as Pierre Frochard and Harry Hollingsworth as Chevalier du Vaudry.

The remainder of the cast produced everything asked of it, in a commendable way. The actors were a poor actor in the entire company, a father, a young man, a woman, when the difficulty of the day is considered the cast is of the highest quality.

Royalty of Wealth on Parity With Royalty of Lineage

MISS EDWINA ASIBLEY AND PRINCE LOUIS MOUNTBATTEN.

By MILTON BRONNER
LONDON, March 12.—The royalty of wealth is coming by leaps and bounds to a parity with the royalty of lineage.

The next noteworthy marriage of a commoner and royalty will be that of England's richest young girl, Miss Edwina Asibley, who is to marry Prince Louis Mountbatten, cousin of King George and the Prince of Wales.

Miss Asibley owns palaces, parks, great picture galleries, immense industries and oodles of money. She is the granddaughter and chief heir of the late Sir Ernest Cassel, friend and financial adviser of the late King Edward.

The prince is 22 and a sub-Lieutenant in the British navy, of which his late father was once senior admiral.

Miss Asibley is a business woman, trained in financial affairs by her grandfather. She is now in India visiting the Earl of Reading, viceroy of India. Prince Louis is also there, with the staff of the Prince of Wales.

and after a hard fought battle in which guns and cold steel play an important part, defeat Kitchell and the band of rascals that he had enlisted. The climax of the film comes when Kitchell and Laredo engage in a fierce encounter, the course of which takes them up into the crow's nest. The fight ends when Kitchell is thrown into the water. Moran, of the Lady Letty, who has gone through all of the adventure as a true seaman should and who has proved himself a man of great courage and place in her life, is with little difficulty persuaded by Laredo to change her mind in regard to the latter's plan.

"The Last Encounter" is a story of a man who is a man of great courage and place in her life, is with little difficulty persuaded by Laredo to change her mind in regard to the latter's plan.

Resides winning a very enjoyable bill at the Strand theatre and receiving the large audience was also given an opportunity to see and hear Bert Lytell, a noted screen star, whose pictures have proven very popular in the city. Mr. Lytell came here for the purpose of meeting his Lowell admirers and his trip to Lowell was well worth the long journey.

Then comes a journey to Kitchell's rendezvous on the Mexican coast, where Kitchell plans to meet his crew in order to have the profits of the ship's voyage all for himself. Laredo and the others turn the tables, however, who proves decidedly ingenious when it comes to getting out of dangerous scrapes. Laredo becomes weary of San Francisco society, and threatens to desert it and go off on a trip in the winter. One day he is down near the waterfront, and is spirited away on such a trip against his will. He is shanghaied and taken aboard the "China," a pirate ship, and is taken to the California and Mexican coasts. There being no use in protesting, Laredo goes along, but he is a man of great courage and place in her life, is with little difficulty persuaded by Laredo to change her mind in regard to the latter's plan.

GIRL NOW WELL AND STRONG

Daughter Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as Mother Advised

Wauseon, Ohio.—"My daughter always had backache and leg-ache at certain periods and could not be on her feet at those times. We read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound doing girls so much good so she began to take it. That is two years ago and she is a different girl since then. She is able to do any work she wants to do—she is still careful not to do heavy work—and so well and strong. We recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all mothers with ailing daughters, and I give you permission to publish this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. A. M. BURKHOLDER, Route No. 2, Box 1, Wauseon, Ohio.

Something out of balance will affect the finest clock, causing it to gain or lose. The proper adjustment made, all is well. So it is with women. Some trouble may upset you completely.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct the cause of the trouble and disagreeable symptoms will disappear as they did in the case of Mrs. Burkholder's daughter.

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Use no equal for whom remedy. Takes but a moment to prepare, and saves you about $1.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine is famous for this purpose.

Pine cough syrup is a combination of pine and sugar. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pine in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for the same price. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children take it eagerly.

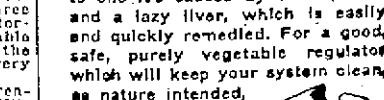

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—irritated membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

A hotel authority says that a few drops of "Outing" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and to toughness the tender skin under the nail, that it can not penetrate the nail, and the nail turns naturally outward almost ever night.

How to Keep Fit at 72

Sprightly Old Man Reveals the Secret

Mr. Collins' Letter

Please send me to this address (St. Petersburg, Fla.), a large bottle of Wincarnis. My home is in New Bedford, Mass. (175 Arnold St.) but I am down here for the winter.

"I am 72 years old, and am much more vigorous and active than most men of my age. I know that my excellent condition is due to the fact that I take two or three doses of Wincarnis every day, because I never feel as well before I began taking it. I used to be very quickly and suffer from weakness and had to bundle myself up whenever it was damp or drizzly. But ever since I began taking Wincarnis I have had the energy and endurance of a middle-aged man, sleep soundly and withstand the severest of weather. I have noticed that Wincarnis keeps my appetite keen and that it strengthens my nerves and heart. If my fingers tremble and my heart flutters or I feel symptoms of depression or weakness, a dose of Wincarnis gives me relief within a few minutes.

Wincarnis is sold in Lowell by Burkinshaw Drug Co., 316-418 Middlesex street. Two sizes, $1.10 and $1.95.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darken your hair. It does so so naturally and easily. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes again fully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. NEW PLAN IN WAR ON BOOZE

Dry Commissioner Haynes
Divides Country Into Eighteen Districts

Flying Squadron in Each
District to Cope With the
Flow of Booze

WASHINGTON, March 14—Prohibition Commissioner Haynes will try another sort of campaign to break up illicit liquor traffic. He announced yesterday that he has divided the United States into 18 districts and will put a "flying squadron" in each one to cope with the flow of booze. The New England states will comprise the 1st district.

"This force of general prohibition agents operating in the 18 divisions will be under Commissioner Haynes' direct control, operating through E. C. Yellowley, chief general prohibition agent," said the announcement of the changes, "and will act as his personal representatives in their respective divisions."

"This force of prohibition agents will not in any manner be a part of the force working under the supervision of the federal prohibition directors, but will be a separate and distinct organization, wholly under the control of the prohibition commissioner. These men shall supplement the work of the field force operating under the state directors and will be a very great aid to the respective directors in their work."

Men already trained by Mr. Yellowley and working for him will be used in the new organization.

Mr. Haynes has been experimenting in his drive against moonshiners and bootleggers. His most recent effort was to scare the drinker away from the poisonous concoctions being sold for whisky, gin and brandy. His publicity agents have conducted a campaign of "weightiness." A statement issued today reads:

"Since the raid on a gigantic still near Kalamazoo, when $225,000 in moonshine liquor and property were seized, reports reaching Federal Prohibition Commissioner Haynes from Michigan indicate a drastic drying up of supply sources.

"Smuggled liquor from Canada, reduced to a minimum, has proven to be doctored stuff, concerning which the secretary of the Michigan Board of Pharmacy has issued a warning that the number of cases of nephritis, a type of bright disease, will be alarmingly large by 1925 if drinkers continue to consume liquor produced by rectifying denatured alcohol.

"Eighty-five per cent of the illicit liquor in Michigan should be labeled 'poison'."

"According to official figures made possible by the Detroit coroner, 18 deaths from poison liquor occurred in that city during February."

"In his report the coroner said: 'We stated several weeks ago that we expected just this thing; it is here, and I have only one suggestion, for avoiding the catastrophe—don't drink bootleg liquor.'"

"Bootleg liquors are trying to make all kinds of liquor appear as the bonded article," said the coroner. "Frequently thousands of counterfeit liquor labels are confiscated by the city and federal authorities."

THE SCHOOL DOCTOR

Before the legislature at the present time is a bill which would make certain changes in the law relative to the examination of school children by physicians. It will be remembered that in some quarters serious opposition was shown to the manner in which certain school physicians conducted the physical examination of girls. It was alleged that in certain cases, the girls were compelled to disrobe and although the facts relative to such cases may be overstated, yet there are few parents who would permit their girls to be subjected to such an ordeal except under strict privacy.

The bill before the legislature relative to this aspect of the school laws would modify the present statute so that no physical records of such examinations be kept by the school authorities, this being alleged to be a violation of the right of privacy. It would also prohibit the undressing of a child either partially or wholly for the purpose of examination, and would forbid any examination of the child by the school physician unless authorized by the parents.

The present law may be defective but it seems that this bill as it stands would nullify all physical examination for health purposes.

Inasmuch as the main objection is against male physicians examining girls and because of the lack of strict privacy, it seems a solution satisfactory to all may be found in having the girls examined by female physicians with due privacy where that is necessary. This is a case in which the woman doctor should be called in to prevent embarrassment and overcome the very natural objections of sensitive parents.

Here in Lowell, we have a woman doctor who has volunteered her services to the school board and whose services along the lines indicated may prove very valuable.

TO PROMOTE BUILDING

The Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange is reported to be planning a systematic campaign to extend and develop the co-operative bank system in Massachusetts to the limit of its possibilities. From the current issue of Industry, published by the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, we learn that a committee has been appointed to study the situation in Massachusetts as a whole, and to establish, if possible, a co-operative bank in every town not now having such an institution, and which appears to be capable of supporting one; to assist in obtaining charters, providing speakers for preliminary meetings and otherwise to join forces with the Massachusetts Co-operative Bank League, local Chambers of Commerce, Boards of Trade, etc., and similar organizations in increasing the business of existing banks, all without expense to projected or going co-operative banks. President William S. Felton of the Real Estate Exchange, in commenting on the campaign, says that one of the greatest needs of the country, both for social and economic reasons, is work and better housing facilities. When a man becomes the owner of a home, he is a better citizen. Revival of building operations will greatly increase the volume of business and the demand for labor; it will speed up many collateral industries and in every way will have a most beneficial effect. As for the need of money, on mortgages, the savings banks are always willing to advance money on building enterprises where the security is satisfactory. Where there are no savings banks, the co-operative system as proposed will help to encourage proprietors to build. The savings banks of Lowell have announced their readiness to aid building enterprises so that the needs of the towns through the state are not felt hereabouts. There is here no excuse for delay in building operations for lack of the necessary funds.

THE VALUE OF DISCIPLINE

Recalling news from Washington and various army headquarters scattered throughout the United States, contains valuable suggestions for the summer military camps, including the one at Camp Devens where some of Lowell's young men will be in training this summer for the usual period when intensive military drills will be in order. Col. George Williams, recently named by Gen. Edwards as commander of the Citizens' Military Training camp, where 2,000 boys are to train, has just come out with a strong plea for real discipline in the summer military training schools.

The colonel believes that there has been a letting down of discipline of all kinds since the world war, as indicated by his communication just issued for perusal by camp followers. He says:

"Discipline is the ability of a superior to control his subordinates under any and all conditions."

It is administered with firmness, justice and kindness, but above all it must be administered to one and all alike and no favoritism shown.

A good many civilians cannot understand the necessity for control of all minor details of a man's life as it is controlled in the service. This is because they do not realize the really fundamental difference between employment in civil life and enlistment in the military service.

All may look back with pride on the record made by our boys in the use of military power given them in the past. This is particularly true, as Col. Williams so well says, when one realizes that except in our two military services and a few schools, discipline of a strong character is unknown in our land. We believe the summer training camps where many of our young men are to report for military training this summer, will do much

FEDERAL BUREAUCRACY

In New York state the Women's democratic club has come out openly against the Sheppard-Towner maternity law, claiming that one of its aims is to prevent rather than foster and protect maternity.

The legislative committee on public health and social welfare have reported against this law and against the $41,000 appropriation required in order to secure the federal grant.

Those who realize the federal methods of enforcing the prohibition law do not care to have similar supervision and espionage exercised over their private family affairs. For analogous reasons, the Towner-Sheppard bill is opposed as aiming at federal control of education throughout the country. The people are getting tired of this federal bureaucracy as authorizing unwarranted interference with matters that should be left to the states.

LIKE WORK, LIKE WAGE

The women employed as teachers in the Boston high schools demand equal pay for equal service, a very fair proposition.

There is probably a problem of this kind in every city in the country. There are women who do the teaching and receive less pay than men who are supposed to supervise and yet who know little or nothing of the art of teaching. Women train for the teaching profession and most men enter it because they fail to succeed in other avocations. The old idea that if a man is good for nothing else, he can go on teaching is not quite dead. But this does not dispose of the fact that many men have become good teachers. Most of them, however, learned the rudiments of the art from women.

CRIME IN THE DARK

Night automobile smash-ups caused 3223 deaths in 32 representative cities last year. A sixth of the deaths were directly due to poorly lighted streets. This is shown by a check-up by the Illuminating Engineering society.

Death and crime grow like asparagus, in the dark.

Crime, in particular, hates light. It keeps under cover in daylight and conducts most of its activities behind the mask of night.

Economy, in the form of dimly lighted streets, is the worst form of municipal extravagance.

FIVE CENT FARE

The public sentiment is steadily growing in favor of a five cent fare on the street cars in Lowell for trips of moderate length. With industrial conditions as they are the war time fares should be cut down. Particularly is it unreasonable to charge ten cents for a short ride on either side of Merrimack square. If the fare is to remain at ten cents, then it would seem that free transfers should be granted to every route in the city. The company's receipts would be increased by the change.

THE RECORD OF THE ESSEX COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

The record of the Essex county commissioners in the expenditures for the Middleton tuberculosis hospital, is likely to stand as one of the strongest arguments in favor of transferring county institutions to the state. It is true the commissioners had the building constructed when war prices soared highest and yet had they been duly cautious in awarding contracts, they might have avoided much of the criticism that is being hurled at them.

DR. ALEXANDER GRAHAM BELL

Inventor of the Bell telephone, will have conferred another benefit upon mankind if he perfects the invention to save people set adrift at sea from dying of thirst. His plan is to condense the vapor from the breath so that it will be available for drink. This is rather out of his line but it is strictly humanitarian.

SCIENTISTS BELIEVE

Scientists believe that if the campaign is kept up against New Jersey mosquitoes, the pest will soon become extinct and then the chase will be directed to the extermination of other disease carriers such as rats, mice and house flies. The battle against deadly germs must go on and in killing one of the carriers you may save a life and possibly that life will be your own.

An Island Falls, Me., jeweller kept on exhibition a small gold watch which sold for $4.50, with a genuine $5 gold piece attached, and offered both for the price of the chain. They ran for eight continuous days without a taker.

The steamship Nippon, which sailed from New York last week, had on board a consignment of four crates from Watbury, Me. In each crate were six porcupines and they are destined to John D. Lamson, of London. Three barrels of Maine apples were shipped with the quill pens for their subsistence during the voyage.

A Word a Day
Today's word is archaic. It's pronounced ar-ky-ay, with accent on second syllable. It means old-fashioned, antique, out of date, belonging to a past age. It comes from Greek "archaios," old-fashion, old.

She Recognized Him

Reggie was undergoing the trying ordeal of being introduced to his fiancée's mother. "Pardon me, madam," he said, "but your face seems strangely familiar. Have we not met before?" He tried to smile affably while he spoke. "Yes," was the grim reply. "I am the woman who stood up for you for half an hour in a 'bus the other day while you sat reading a paper."

The Poor Major

Old Major Shrapnel was walking with a friend when they passed a pretty girl. At once the major turned to his companion with a smile. "There," he said triumphantly, "I did you see that charming young lady smile at me?" "Oh, that's nothing to worry about," replied his friend consolingly. "You used like this? Many people like to fill their homes with archaic furniture."

Not a Green Fruit Man

A horse dealer was trying to sell a horse to a fruit merchant. The dealer was not such a fool as the dealer took him to be. After examining the horse the fruit merchant shook his head. "No," he said, "I won't buy him." "Why not?" asked the dealer. "He's just in his prime." The fruit merchant shook his head. "What horse," he said, "is a fruit merchant's horse?" "Now sit there and be quiet," ten minutes later a small head appeared round the door and a meek little voice said: "Please, sir, you've got our teacher!"

Overheated Inspector

An impetuous inspector was worried by the noise made by the scholars in the next room. At length, unable to bear the uproar any longer, he opened the door and burst upon the class. Noticing one boy rather than the others talking a great deal, he caught him by the collar, hurled him into the next room and placed him in a chair, saying: "Now sit there and be quiet." Ten minutes later a small head appeared round the door and a meek little voice said: "Please, sir, you've got our teacher!"

Aunt Selma

When Aunt Selma comes to tea she always makes them search for me. And I must be polite and clean. And seldom heard, but always seen. I must sit still in my chair. As long as Aunt Selma's there.

But there are certain things I would ask Aunt Selma if I could. I'd ask when she was small, like me, if she had ever climbed a tree. Or if she'd ever, ever gone without her shoes and stockings on. Where lovely puddles lay in rows. To let the mud seep through her toes. Or if she'd condescended on a sled. Or learned to stand upon her head. And wave her feet—and after that I'd ask her how she got so fat. These things I'd like to ask, and then I hope she would not come again. —Carol Hayes, in Harper's Magazine.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

One of the surest signs that spring is here may be seen in any back lot nowadays where groups of youngsters are playing baseball. Last week we saw a group of the snow from the lots and the wind dried up the ground so that the boys could start their games without splashing through mud. A regular game was staged yesterday on Christian Hill by two scrub teams and there was as much enthusiasm as attends the grownups' contests. Baseball the first week in March is surely a rare treat of events.

The members of the Knights of Columbus are looking forward with a great deal of pleasure to the "Irish Night," which will be held in the council rooms Thursday evening. The speaker for the affair is the Hon. William H. O'Brien of the public service board of Massachusetts. Mr. O'Brien is a charter member of the Dorchester council and is an eloquent speaker, thoroughly familiar with Irish affairs. His subject will be "America in the Making and the Part Played by the Irish." Besides the speaking there will be music, both instrumental and vocal. Irish airs and Irish songs to predominate. A luncheon will be served.

I understand that H. F. Howe, general secretary of the local Y.M.C.A., was one of the guests at a recent banquet in Boston given to Harry Law, the noted Scotch entertainer. From all reports the banquet was a huge success from every standpoint. Sir Harry responded to the entreaties of those assembled and gave several fine selections. It is the first time this celebrated Scotchman has been in the Hub for many years and he will long remember the cordial reception tendered him by a few of his many admirers.

Prudent people who like to have the "first blooms" in their front yard flower gardens, can put in sweet peas right now and they will give a very good yield providing the ground isn't disturbed too much by continually thawing and freezing, or getting too muddy so as to rot the seed. The early planting of peas both of the floral and eating variety, is becoming quite a custom now. I am told. Some gardeners have excellent luck, but there are others who believe it to be actual folly to plant seeds so early. As to the general lateness of the spring and the wet condition of the average garden.

making addresses at public banquets, is the well known horticulturist, Lester Dora, who attended the banquet of the Lowell Driving club last Thursday evening. Although called upon for remarks, Mr. Dora, beyond a very few words and a bow of appreciation, de-

RECAPITULATION

In Florida, in Florida we lead a lazy life,
Afraid from all the northern cold, the tumult and the strife,
The royal palms enamour us,
The turquoise seas are glamorous
And every prospect pleases and man is not so vile;
We read of northern weather
And we chuckle all together
And guess we won't go home again for quite a little while.

In Florida, in Florida you're wrapped about with charm,
The breeze is gently balmy and the sun is gently warm,
The sandy beaches call for you,
The white surf has a thrill for you
And there's a scent of flowers and of fruit upon the air;
There's a hazy thought a-lurking
That you should be home—and working,
But you eat another lotus and you do not seem to care.

In Florida, in Florida—down here among the keys—
You loaf and get a gorgeous tan while northern cities freeze,
You miss the winter rigorous
That makes the health so vigorous
(And you are glad to miss it—and you don't shed many tears),
For the tropic spell is o'er you,
Though it probably would bore you
And you'd doubtless weary of it—in some ten or twenty years!

"PEPPERIZE" FARMING

Radio to Revolutionize Farming, Says U. S. Radio News Service Chief

BY W. A. WHEELER,
Chief, Radio News Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

WASHINGTON, March 14—Adaptation of radio communication to the use and service of agriculture will, in my judgment, do more to revolutionize life on America's farms than any other single factor that has ever been known.

Radio can bring to the farmer those things the lack of which has done most to make farm life both difficult and distasteful—news, market information, amusements and instructive entertainment.

To my mind, there is no single use of radio except the protection of life at sea and in the air that should take precedence over its utilization for the benefit of agriculture.

There are more than 32,000,000 people claimed to accede to the horseman's chorus of requests for a real speech. Mr. Dora is a great favorite among New England horsemen everywhere.

Thirty-eight large textile mill owners in New England are now co-operating with the U. S. Veterans' bureau for the vocational training of disabled veterans. Not long ago four disabled veterans from the Lowell Textile school made up a vocational training exhibit for the Boston Textile exhibition. The government is doing in rehabilitating disabled ex-service men under the U. S. Veterans' bureau. The purpose of the exhibition was to outline to large employers of textile labor the skill of the service men who have been trained by the government. As a result 23 large mill owners in New England offered to take veterans into their employ after they had completed their vocational training. Hundreds of men are completing their training every month and the Veterans' bureau is making every effort to have these men placed in employment as soon as they have mastered their training.

The "B Z" Wayfinder comes to hand once more, the 1922 edition being issued with more than 60 pages, well printed and in compact shape, and two light brown paper covers that make the little pocket directory a very useful as well as an interesting volume to have in the home or carry in one's pocket. As usual the familiar name of Conductor John J. Fraser of the local street railway is found on the bottom of the first cover. As a handy reference book, it is useful at all times. A feature of the directory is a list of car lines running from Merrimack square, each line being numbered differently. When a reader is hunting for a certain street, he will find directly opposite the street name a number referring to the car line that runs to or nearest to the street desired. The complete fire alarm list is also given in the back part of the book following the street locations.

financial or sport news, as anyone. In many instances, the only entertainment of which the farmer can avail himself is that which comes by radio- phone.

The time element in dispatching weather, crop and market news is a big factor affecting the value of such reports.

In cutting hay or harvesting grain, for example, an hour's delay in the dispatch of weather reports may mean a loss of several thousand dollars. An early morning report on weather conditions and the estimated receipts at the market that day is of great value to the live stock grower about to ship a carload of hogs to market.

Helps in Shipping
Prompt daily reports on the fruit and vegetable markets enables the farmer to determine when and where farm products are most needed and to arrange his shipments accordingly.

A sudden frost may kill an entire fruit crop. By radio, warnings of severe temperature changes or of storms can be flashed instantly to an entire district.

When thousands of tons of food products are threatened with destruction by impending storms or floods, ordinary methods of communicating warnings are too slow. Market news to be of greatest value should be received the same day.

All this is possible by radio. It enables the farmer to keep in instant touch with weather, crop and market news necessary for his business. It gives for his information a summary of important news happenings; it brings to his home, for all his family to hear, lectures, concerts, and other entertainments heretofore only accessible to the city dweller.

Radio puts the farmer in direct touch with the whole world.

Gompers Given Big Reception

JOHN HANLEY
President of Trades and Labor Council

Textile council for the purpose of acquainting the residents of Lowell with the conditions existing in the local textile industry, and also to inform them of the reasons why the 20 per cent reduction in wages in two local mills was rejected. He introduced as the first speaker Mayor Brown, who briefly welcomed the visitors and extended to them the greetings of the city.

Charles E. Anderson of the Trades and Labor council paid his respects to Mr. Gompers and Mrs. Conboy, and in behalf of organized labor of Lowell extended to both a most cordial welcome.

Rev. Leslie Rockes

The next speaker was Rev. Leslie Rockes, who read a paper containing statements from heads of the Church of England, representatives of the American Catholics and the American Protestants in regard to the labor situation in this country.

The speaker quoted first from the Church of England, then the attitude of American Catholics as pronounced by the national Catholic war council, and then the attitude of American Protestants, as follows:

Church of England
"Large numbers of working people too often have cause to feel that they are directed by an industrial autocracy, repugnant to their precisely because it is an autocracy, and because insofar as it controls their means of livelihood, it controls their lives."

"Christians cannot acquiesce in the undue subordination of human beings to the exigencies of any mechanical or economic system."

"We urge our fellow Christians to ask themselves whether an economic system which produces the striking and excessive inequalities of wealth which characterize our present society is one which is compatible with the spirit of Christianity, or in which a Christian community ought to acquiesce."

"The whole conception of society which tolerates as normal and inevitable the co-existence of riches and widespread poverty, instead of regarding it as the shameful denial of Christian brotherhood which it is, must be renounced by Christians and abandoned by the community."

"The first charge upon every industry should be the payment of a sufficient wage to enable the worker to maintain himself and his family in health and honor, with such a margin of leisure as will permit reasonable recreation and the development of mind and spirit."

"Steps should be taken to place at the disposal of the public the fullest information which can be obtained with regard to the profits of different industries."

Attitude of American Catholics
"In addition to the right to organize, labor ought gradually to receive greater representation in the industrial part of management."

"The majority must somehow be

"The employer has not a right to interest on his investment until his employees have obtained at least a living wage."

"A living wage is not necessarily the full measure of justice. All the Catholic authorities on the subject explicitly declare that this is only the minimum of justice."

"The present system stands in grievous need of considerable modifications and improvement. Its main defects are three. Enormous inefficiency and waste in the production and distribution of commodities; insufficient incomes for a great majority of wage earners; and unnecessarily large incomes for a small minority of privileged capitalists."

"The laborer must come to realize that he owes his employer and society an honest day's work in return for a fair wage. The capitalist likewise must get the new viewpoint. He needs to learn the long forgotten truth, that wealth is stewardship."

"On grounds both of justice and sound economics we should give our hearty support to all legitimate efforts made by labor to resist general wage reductions."

Attitude of American Protestants
"What is justice in industry can only be determined and maintained as it has been in government, by the common consent of all concerned. The teachings of Jesus give the common man a right to participate in the control of industry, even as they give him a right to participate in the control of the state."

"Out of the very industries that pay inadequate wages great fortunes are being built. Against such inequalities the Christian conscience must protest, for it means poverty, blighted lives, loss of opportunity and social unrest."

"The supreme social function of the church is to educate the community in the fundamental spiritual principles which underlie these movements of social progress, to uphold the ideals by which they are conceived, to develop the atmosphere in which they are born, the individuals who will carry them to maturity, and the spiritual power which will make them effective."

Rev. Karl P. Molster was next introduced. He said the church has represented stands for the abatement and prevention of poverty and for the right of all men, as well as for the principle of conciliation and arbitration in labor disputes; for a living wage and for the highest wage any industry can afford.

The next speaker was Mrs. Conboy, who spoke in part as follows: "I know there are many here tonight who are not textile workers, but who have come to listen to what Mr. Gompers has to say relative to the fight on against a 20 per cent reduction. In Pawtucket and Providence, R.I., a similar strike is on, and I may say that the fight is going on beautifully. In Manchester, N.H., where another strike is on, the operatives are waging the prettiest fight I ever saw. The employers have said they cannot run their mills if the 20 per cent reduction does not stand. All right, show us your books, show us you can't run and we will accept. Are you still officials ashamed to show what profits you have made?"

"During the war, those of us who did not go to the front, but who here by selling Liberty bonds, war savings stamps and by manufacturing clothing for the soldiers across, and as soon as the armistice was signed you have rapaid us by giving us a 22 1/2 per cent reduction, and if we did not put up a fight other reductions would have followed."

"Long before the legislators placed the 48-hour law on the statutes the United Textile Workers of America put it into effect in some mills. We now have the 48-hour law in the state of Massachusetts and other states and we will fight till we die before giving it up. The people in the textile industry are having an awakening and they have stood for the very last kick from the manufacturers. You manufacturers have kicked us around, and you have closed your mills. Instead of announcing a 20 per cent reduction you should come across with a 50 per cent increase. Every man working in the mill ought to earn enough to keep his wife home. The working people love their children more than the wealthy class, for that is all they have to cherish. They do not possess wealth, savings banks or automobiles."

Addressing the strikers Mrs. Conboy said: "This is your fight and it you stand together you are bound to win. The manufacturers will use the wage question and bring about the world, 'foreigner,' but do not let them intimidate you with such talk, for the foreigners they are now attempting to criticize, were not foreigners when they were imported here. In those days they were not asked about their nationality, but were simply quarried as to whether or not they were textile workers. They talk about socialists and radicals, but I may say that the employers of labor have made more of them in America than Lenin and Trotsky in Russia."

"A 20 per cent reduction on top of a 22 1/2 per cent reduction is more than a 40 per cent cut, and I have again repeat that if the manufacturers can show us that they cannot run their mills without that reduction, we will meet them on their own grounds. Keep your fight, for you are being watched from every textile corner in New England and remain united and you are sure to win."

James Starr gave an outline of the Manchester strike and quoted the enormous profits made by the American Manufacturing company during the past ten years. His address was followed by brief remarks by General Organizer Thomas J. Reagan in the course of which he stated that the Hamilton Mfg. Co. and the Ray State Cotton Corp. were picked out by the manufacturers because they believed they were the weakest as far as organized labor is concerned, but before we get through with them they will change their minds. He stated that as soon as other notices of a reduction are posted in other mills, the owners will have a fight on their hands.

At the close of Mr. Reagan's address Mr. Hanley announced that a collection would be taken up in the hall for the benefit of the strikers and a score of young women passed the plate around, collecting a very substantial amount.

Big Ovation For Gompers
Mr. Gompers was then introduced

and he was given a real ovation. In his opening remarks he said that one of the most difficult tasks many men experience is to measure up to the expectation aroused by the introduction.

The speaker paid his respects to the mayor, the presiding officer and the clergymen present and said: "We are living in a time of turmoil, of unrest, of an uneasy and nervous state of mind in which there seems to be no fixed principles, but one thing we are assured is that out of the struggle that comes in the life of men, the working class will eventually secure what it is entitled to. Most of the trouble is not of our seeking or making, it is being forced upon us. The men and women who have somehow gotten into their minds that in addition to being wealth producers, they are men and women and as such are sovereign beings and they are entitled to the consideration of their fellows. From the beginning of man, from decade to decade, epoch to epoch, all the struggles of the human family have been against tyranny. Our ancestors, fighting for a righteous cause, declared this should be an independent government and a government that recognizes man. The people of the colonies took up arms and were victorious after a wonderful fight and struggle. Then we won and on and after a while the declaration of independence became a threat, and once in a while on independence day we hear the declaration read or we read it ourselves with a thrill."

"Then during the great war we learned that the principles of democracy, the hope of one people and our nation were menaced, that the democracy of the world were in danger, and when that danger was discerned by the people of the democratic countries, when the war lord said let the dogs of war loose, there was a fight with the result that the Kaiser was driven in defeat. Three weeks before war was declared in this country, labor leaders of this country held a conference and declared that if our country was threatened they would fight against their enemies no matter who they were or from whence they hailed. We have fought and crushed the imperialism of autocracy."

Open Shop Drive
"When the armistice was signed there came a well planned scheme by the employers, who believed that the people of this country had grown to become independent, and they did not like this, so they put on a drive for the so-called open shop. They denied the working people the right to organize, but the working people had tasted freedom, they knew what it is and no combination on the face of the earth is going to take it away from them. The manufacturers tell us why don't you get on individual. What a chance do you think one of the operators would have to go to the foreman for the attainment of his rights."

Mr. Gompers then made reference to a part of Mrs. Conboy's address when she declared that if the manufacturers can show us that they can't run their mills without the 20 per cent reduction, the operatives were willing to meet them on their own grounds, and he said it is quite true that some manufacturers really believe they are having losses in their business. They have money invested and after making their own accounts of costs, etc., they come to the conclusion that they ought to make $100,000 in the coming year and if their figures have failed or if, in other words, their figures show a profit of only $30,000, they feel they have lost $70,000. They want to make it up. The taxes have to be paid, rent and fuel have to be paid for, raw material has to be paid for at a given price. We can't cut on them, they say, so we will cut wages. They tell us the only way out of it is to go back to normalcy. We'll go back and I wonder how far back we've got to go to reach normalcy.

"If the textile workers had accepted the 20 per cent reduction, they would have brought us back to normalcy, so the manufacturers say, but I feel it would have been another inducement for them to push us back and back again, or as they say, nearer to normalcy. There are now 5,000,000 people unemployed in America. The employers and business men say the reason for this unemployment situation is that there is too much goods on the shelves, too much products in the warehouses and the only remedy is to cut wages for they feel that when wages are cut the operatives will be ready to buy more."

In concluding, Mr. Gompers said: "We are not at prayer meeting, for we have our fighting clothes on and we can't help but fight back. What we want is a good home, schools and

Her Druggist Recommended It And All the Family Used It

MRS. A. H. SHOYAN is a much respected resident of West Orange, Massachusetts. After taking a number of medicines prescribed by physicians and otherwise learned of, without gaining desired results, she took her druggist's advice. But let her tell her own story.

"I was in a generally run-down condition, weak and always tired. My food did not seem to nourish me and I did not enjoy it. It seemed to me that all the organs were out of sorts. The doctor's medicines and others that I had taken did me no good. I was in Mr. Jackson's drug store and telling him of my troubles. He asked me to try a bottle of Sannal and he said if it did not help me he would cheerfully refund my money."

"I took the first bottle and it made me feel so much better that I took two more. It made me stronger in every way. I was so pleased that I bought a bottle for my two children, and soon found a great difference in their actions. Now my husband is taking Sannal and is already being benefited as it has had a wonderfully helpful effect upon his stomach. So you see Sannal has done good for the whole family. We were generally out of sorts, as entire families often get, feverish, somewhat constipated and restless, and it seems as if Sannal just started us going in the right way."

Increases the action of the intestines

Hundreds of men and women have already found freedom from laxatives by eating Fleischmann's fresh yeast.

Doctors are now agreed that proper elimination of waste matter should be brought about by food. One doctor comes right out and states plainly that the indiscriminate use of cathartics is one of the causes of constipation.

Physicians all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's fresh yeast because it is a fresh food, rich in those elements which keep the intestines healthy. In one series of tested cases, normal functions were restored in from 3 days to 5 weeks.

Try it out for yourself. Begin today by adding 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your everyday diet. Keep it up and see how normally and regularly your intestines act. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-fall package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer.

CHASTLY SLAUGHTER ON THE RAND DEPLORED

CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, March 13.—In the house of assembly today, members of the labor party deplored the "chastly slaughter" on the Rand in connection with the mining strike and demanded that the government negotiate immediately for the cessation of hostilities to prevent further loss of life.

DO YOU SUFFER?

BACKACHE OR PAIN OVER KIDNEYS?

Wonderful Relief Is Here Told

Utica, N. Y.—"I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets for kidneys and backache. I have never known a medicine that would give such quick relief. For some time past I had been suffering with kidney disorder, my back would be lame thru the region of the kidneys and I also suffered with rheumatism and stiffness of the joints. Just recently I learned of Anuric and began its use. I have only taken it a very short time but have derived wonderful relief. My kidneys have become active and seemingly in a normal state and I do not suffer with backaches and stiffness of the joints. To those who suffer as I did I would suggest Dr. Pierce's Anuric."—Mrs. H. A. Taylor, 504 Knox St., Utica, N. Y.

BOSTON, March 14.—Proof that higher education does not divorce the feminine interest from the home, is advanced by co-eds at Boston university. Records at the college show that 80 per cent. of the 9000 students, most of whom are girls, are either partially or wholly self-supporting. They earn their tuition by filling positions ranging from chauffeur to under-secretary of a legation. Most of the young women, however, act as cooks, waitresses, maids, mothers' helpers and laundry assistants.

In the Big Leagues a Baseball Captain Is Also a Major

BOXING

"Deak" Dodge of the Moody A.C. has completed his card for Thursday night, and while many regret the fact that Al Diamond will not be on the program, a majority of the fans feel that the card is one of the best ever seen in the main event. Cleveland Johnny Downes, who got a decision over Johnny Avila here three weeks ago, will be the main attraction. Downes, a victory here over Avila, will appear in the main event. Billy Murphy and Johnny Lucas will perform in the semi-final and preliminary bouts. The semi-final and preliminary bouts will meet in one preliminary and Young Mullin of the A.C. and Kid Hooker of Selvidere will clash in the other six rounds.

The semi-final number which will mark the reappearance of the popular Billy Murphy will appear in the two months' layoff and the initial showing here of the aggressive Johnny Lucas is attracting considerable attention.

Murphy has enjoyed remarkable success since making his debut in pugilism. He has yet to be defeated and while he has engaged in comparatively few bouts, in all he has shown rare cleverness and hitting ability. He is exceptionally young for a boxer of his age, and works like a boxer of wide experience. While out of the ring for the past two months, he has not lost a single round, and it was stated today that he is in perfect condition.

Johnny Avila, the local waterweight, who is suffering with an injured thumb, plans to lay off for a few weeks' rest. He injured his right thumb in the second round of his bout here with "Wild Man" Gould more than a month ago. It affected his work in that bout, and also in his bouts with Cleveland Johnny Downes and Billy Woods. He has been advised to take it easy for a time and he has decided to do so.

Dan Conaghan, the local heavyweight, who got away to a rather bad start against Pat Hanse, has gone to Boston to train under the direction of Chuck Haxton and he confidently expects that after a few weeks in the gym he will be able to turn the tables on the Haverhill man. He is somewhat disappointed over his defeat in his initial start before the home folks, but he is far from being discouraged.

Jack Leahy informs us that Phinney Boyie is again in shape, after several weeks of intensive training, and that he expects to make another start at Woonsocket in a short time. Negotiations are now under way to match Boyie with Eddie Parker to appear in the Rhode Island city in the near future. Boyie also has an offer to appear in Worcester.

Jimmy Demas of this city who has been over in New York for the past few months is back in town and he plans to get right back into the game here. He won't well be reported in the big city and plans to return there later. In the meantime he is ready to tackle any boy of his weight in this vicinity.

Several Lowell men who were down in Rhode Island last week on a flying visit to the Diamond Hill training camp and report that Nate Siegel, Bill Brennan, Billy Shade and Johnny Clinton are there training for future bouts. The Lowellites were impressed with Siegel, one of the famous Californian brothers, and informed the writer that he looks like a classy performer. He is training for a bout with Gene Tunney to be staged in Madison Square Garden in the near future and he feels confident of winning over the holder of the light heavyweight title.

Al Cassidy, the talented New Bedford boxing manager, again drops a line to announce that his waterweight, Billy Carney, would like to get a crack at Billy Woods, the conqueror of Sailor Dardier and Johnny Avila. Al writes: "I see Billy Woods has made a big hit up here in Lowell, and am glad to know the veteran is going good again. I have a man, however, who will stop him and who is ready to sign up to meet him in any condition. His name is Billy Carney. You all know him."

RUBE MARQUARD IN BRAVES' CAMP

Veteran Southpaw in Condition to Make Stiff Campaign This Year

Scott Fits in Well as Member of Yankee Infield—Training Camp Notes

BOSTON, March 14.—Wearing the colors of the Braves at St. Petersburg, Rube Marquard, the pitcher, has now played in the uniforms of half the clubs of the National League. First the Giants, then the Dodgers, last year he was with the Red Sox, and now he has the southpaw at a pitching member. He was reported from the Braves' camp where he arrived yesterday as in condition to make a stiff campaign this year.

The Braves were nearly complete today, with only one or two stragglers to be heard from. Manager Mitchell expected to put a nominally regular lineup in the field for the first time. Only four days remain for practice before the team meets Washington in the first four days of their spring series. Rain kept the Red Sox indoors at Hot Springs, Ark., much of the day yesterday, but Manager Duffy had the batterymen go through their paces for a short session.

New York Teams Complete
NEW YORK, March 14.—Miller Huggins has just placed on the playing field at New Orleans, the training camp of the Yankee baseball team, the infield which will probably go through the fire of this season's campaign. McNally, Scott, Ward and Pipp were in there yesterday and looked very good. Scott, who supplants Peckinpaugh, teamed well with his fellow infielders and with Ralph Shinnery, the first defense of the American league champions was considered perfected. Ruess and Skinner have been doing well in the outer works, and it seems probable they will be called upon to hold down the middle and right-field positions until Ruth and Menzel are given clearance from their suspension by former Judge Landis.

Long George Kelly, first base guard, has been handed to Manager McGraw of the Giants his signed contract for the ensuing year and with Ralph Shinnery in middle field, the National league team presented yesterday the lineup that probably will face the flag when the championship season opens. Fred Toney is an active training, and the only member of last year's team who occasions worry, is "Shufflin' Phil" Douglas.

Burleigh Grimes, who has been reluctant to attach his name to a Brooklyn contract for the coming year, is still outside the pale, but it is foretold that he will soon be in line. The dodgers had the extreme displeasure yesterday to suffer a defeat at the hands of the Daytona Fla. state league team the score being 4 to 3. The Brooklyn lads made lots of hits, but they did not come at the right time.

VINCENT RICHARDS BEATEN BY RICE

BOSTON, March 14.—Word of the defeat of Vincent Richards of New York, ranked as the third-best tennis player in this country, by a Washington club, this city, eighth in ranking, in the final match for the Bermuda Islands championship was received here today. Richards won the first set, 2-6, but Rice, conqueror of W. T. Tilden, world's champion a year ago, then won the next three, 6-3, 5-6, 6-2. The match was played on cement courts, painted green.

BIG CHECKER MATCH

BOSTON, March 14.—An invitation from the City club of Cleveland to Newell Banks of Detroit, and Louis Ginsberg of Brooklyn, to hold there the match to which Ginsberg, the former Banks, has been forwarded to Ginsberg here. The latter has offered to make a side wager of $1000. He proposes that the match should be 40 games, in which the foremost preparatory schools of the middle west were entered.

Not only is Postle a star with the weights, but also a gridiron performer of unusual merit.

practise yesterday for the Phillies and Athletics was the theme in a preliminary for games today. The Americans will get into action at Eagle Pass, Tex., this afternoon when the Owls and Hawks face each other in a highly interesting contest, while the Nationals' Leaguers will meet the local team of Leesburg, Fla. The mayor of Leesburg has declared a holiday for the occasion.

Bohne Signs With Reds
CINCINNATI, March 14.—Sam Bohne arrived at the training camp of the Cincinnati Baseball club last night and signed a contract for the 1922 season, despite the fact that he is a free agent.

George Harper, recruit outfielder, who was taken ill with influenza has developed pneumonia. His condition, however, is not considered serious. Rain kept players off the field most of yesterday.

The Reds will play the Dallas club of the Texas league at Mineral Wells tomorrow.

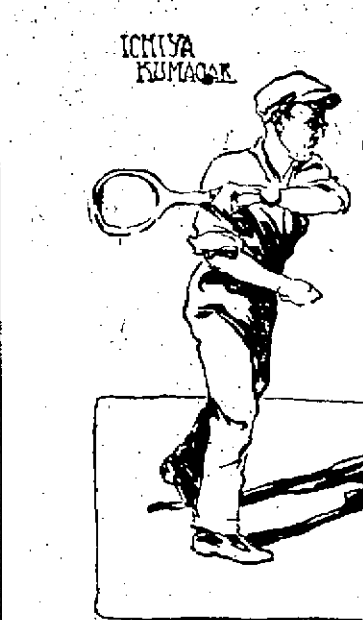

Indian Southpaw Gets Chance
CLEVELAND, March 14.—Del Bissone, the Indians' new southpaw pitcher, will get his first workout with the Cleveland squad today, weather permitting. Rain again prevented practice yesterday, according to advices reaching here from Dallas.

Bissone had an enviable record with the New Hampshire State and Georgetown colleges during the last two seasons.

"Hawsherd" For Cubs
CHICAGO, March 14.—Farm hands' hours have been established for the Chicago Nationals at their Catalina Island, Cal., training camp. The Cubs have had to their camp yesterday with a lot of Pacific coast jiddling prying in their ears as the result of defeats by Portland and Vernon.

Consequently the Cubs' training camp is a bit of a mess. The White Sox took an enforced rest yesterday because of a heavy rain at Seguin, Tex.

Leading Guest of Tickets
DETROIT, March 14.—The Detroit Tigers were scheduled to entertain Baseball Commissioner Landis with a six-inning contest at their training camp in Seguin, Tex. today. Later the commissioner and the players were guests of the Augusta Rotary club at a barbecue. Judge Landis reached Augusta, the first stop on his tour of the Southern training camps late yesterday. A squad composed of regulars, yesterday fell before the "Yanigans" by a 5 to 4 score. Failing was the only pitcher to escape without being scented upon. Mohardt carried off the batting honors with a triple and Veach socked out a double.

SERIES IS NOW TIED

St. Patrick's Wins Over St. Anne's in Second Game by Score of 18 to 15

In a whirlwind game, witnessed by a record breaking crowd, the St. Patrick's Junior Holy Name society basketball team won over St. Anne's Athletic club quintet at the Crescent rink last night by the score of 18 to 15.

The game was the second in a series of three to determine the amateur championship of the city, and as St. Anne's won the opening game a week ago, a third contest will be necessary and this will be played next Monday night.

While the game itself was replete with hard, fast, clean and thrilling features, with spectacular plays executed by both outfits, the scenes enacted on the rink were not without their share of excitement. The St. Patrick's team had their special cheer leaders and rosters, and the spirit that permeated the event were other factors that contributed much to an evening of rare enjoyment.

As in the game of a week ago the contest was bitterly contested all the way, with the winner in doubt right up to the last foot of the whistle. The St. Patrick's outfit got away to a flying start and while it never lost the lead, it was only a narrow margin that kept them in the game. The St. Anne's team, with its enthusiastic cheer leaders and rosters, and the spirit that permeated the event were other factors that contributed much to an evening of rare enjoyment.

St. Anne's has a more representative athletic contest in this city. Brother Herman, of St. Patrick's boys' school, who is coach and director of the basketball team, and an enthusiastic advocate of clean sport, Brother Clarence, supervisor of the school, and the other members of the faculty, led the supporters of St. Patrick's.

Rev. Appleton Grannis, pastor of St. Anne's church, and a great lover and promoter of athletic sports, his assistants, and a large delegation of officers, composed of ladies and gentlemen occupied a special section and cheered heartily for their boys.

Each cheering squad had its leaders and all feature plays found abundant recognition. Then on the floor the players, while fighting hard, had every advantage of the game. Adventures of the Twins
A NEW START

"CAN SHE SEE US?" ASKED THE GOAT WITH A WORRIED LOOK

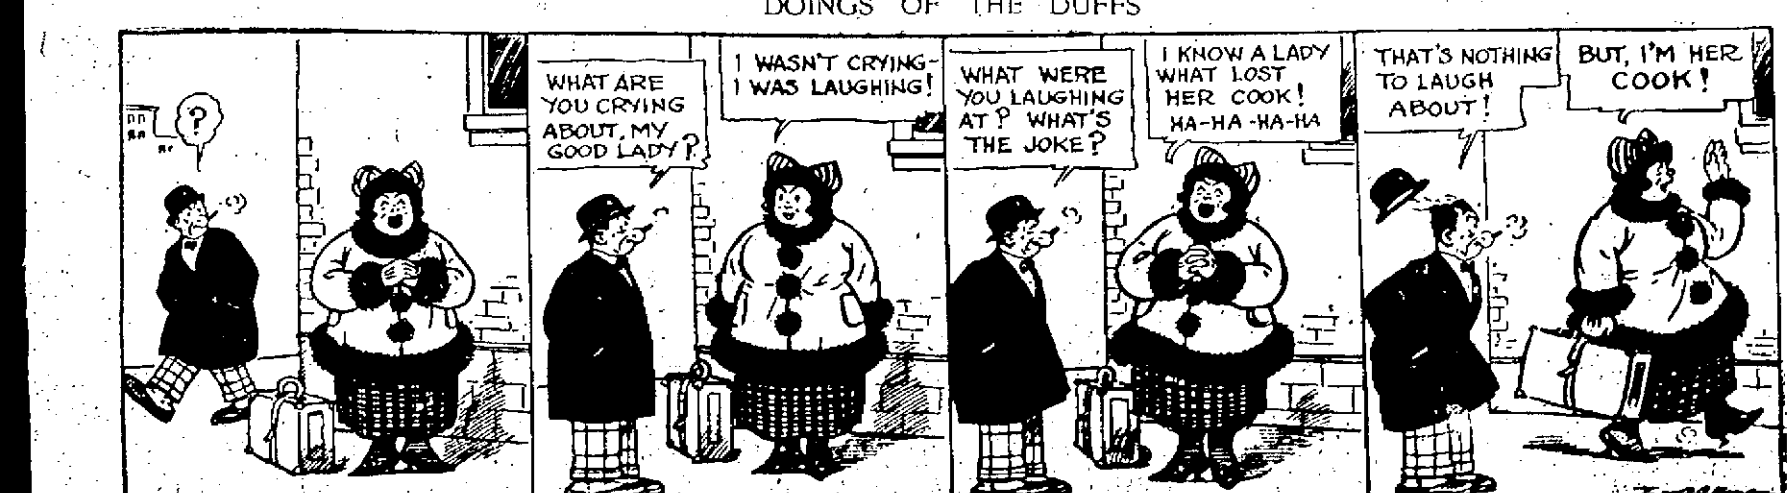

"Well, now what?" asked the goat. "If you mean what are we going to do," replied Nick. "I guess we're going on our travels. You see, Nancy and I are on our way to hunt the lost record of Longford the Wizard."
"What's that?" asked the goat, pretending not to know.
"Oh, it tells whether the Diddyevers with the blue hair are handsome than the Koshkoshits of the green beard. Whoever is, must give up to the other and rule all of Fairland. Then it's to be decided who shall marry Princess Therna. She lives in the Castle of Mirrors and can see everything that happens, even on the other side of the world."
"Can she see us?" asked the goat with a worried look. This part about the mirrors he did not like.
"I suppose so," said Nick. "But we're very late and must be starting. I can't think how Nancy and I happened to stay here so long. When we started it was morning and now it's nearly night."
The goat changed his voice so it was very sweet. "Would you like company?" he asked. "Perhaps if I would go with you, I could be of use. One can never tell when he may meet an enemy."
"Yes, you may come," agreed Nick. "Although no one said anything about it."
"And we'll take the cake along," suggested the goat. "You can put it into a basket and I can carry it on my back. Just wait, I'll get the basket myself."
He ran into the cave and swiftly slipped the Cloth of Dreams into a large basket, and when he returned Nick laid the cake carefully on it.
"Are you sure we may take it?" asked Nancy.
"Oh, yes," nodded the goat. "The gypsy woman baked it for us herself. I'll tell you a secret, my dears. The missing record was inside the middle layer."
